Detroit Faces Huge Task Of Rebuilding

DETROIT (AP) — Military patrols occupied Detroit streets for the fifth day Saturday as authorities approached a gargantuan task of rebuilding from the rubble of burned and looted stores—and the wreckage of racial peace.

President Johnson, while not declaring Detroit a major disaster area, ordered the Small Business Administration to make available long term, low interest loans to home owners and small businessmen for reconstruction of dwellings and establishments.

Guardsmen and 4,800 regular Army troops. The federal troops came in under order of President Johnson.

Meanwhile, police arrested four men and a woman as suspected snipers in an apartment building on the West Side. Officers seized five shotguns, two rifles, four revolvers, a bag of spent cartridges and some live ammunition.

In other developments: Vice President Hubert H.

Humphrey's staff announced that he will speak next Wednesday night in Detroit at a meeting of the National Association of County Officials. Johnson had been invited but decided to send Humphrey.

President Johnson met for the first time with a new Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders and urged the members to be "inspired by a sense of urgency." The 11-member group is charged with finding the answer to America's continuing widespread racial violence.

Participating in the presidential commission meeting was Cyrus Vance, Johnson's personal representative in Detroit when the decision was made to bring in Army paratroopers. Detroit fire marshal Barney DeCoster said an incomplete survey disclosed fire losses of an estimated $250 million — not including losses from looting and other destruction.

Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., one of Detroit's two Negro congressmen, said at a news conference that Negroes had been the target of police brutality. He said earlier thousands of Negroes had complained about "profanity, abuse and undue use of force by the police."

Police Commissioner Ray Girardin replied: "Never in any revolution — if this be one — have the rights of those involved been so protected. If there are charges of misconduct we want specific charges and we will investigate and take whatever action is necessary."

Neither policemen nor Guardsmen have worn identifying badges during the week.

Shattered with countless street windows in four days of street mobs, firebombings, looting and sniping was Detroit's image of excellent racial relations.

Along 12th Street, Linwood and Grand River avenues — main arteries of destruction — shopkeepers slowly moved back to stare at the jumble of bricks and broken water pipes, the remains of their businesses.

New panes of glass started to appear in those that had es-

Castro's Plans For New Viets Begin Today

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's program for creating Vietnamese in the Western Hemisphere begins moving Sunday with the opening of a week-long conference of revolutionaries from Latin America. U.S. "Black Power" advocate Stokely Carmichael is attending as an observer.

Delegates from a score of Latin-American countries are here for the first conference of the Latin-American Organization of Solidarity, called OLAS from the initials of its title in Spanish. OLAS is an outgrowth of the Organization of Solidarity of Peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America, which is known as the Tricontinental Organization.

A message attributed to Ernesto "Che" Guevara, the Argentine-born revolutionary who played a key role in Castro's uprising, has become a byword for the OLAS meeting. That message called for the creation of "two, three, many Vietnams" in this part of the world.

But unless something unexpected happens, the conference is expected to be limited to a series of speeches attacking the United States and imperialism and culminating in a call for continental armed revolt.

OLAS opens under the shadow of Soviet differences with Cuba over Castro's pro-revolution line.

The opening session will be devoted mainly to the election of a conference president, who is expected to be Haydee Santamaria, a female guerrilla comrade of Castro in his revolt. She is the chief OLAS organizer.

President Osvaldo Dorticos of Cuba is scheduled to sound the keynote at the formal opening Monday and Castro probably will close the meeting Aug. 8. Cuban officials are declining to identify all the delegates who attend, apparently to keep them out of trouble with their governments.

BULLETIN

DETROIT (AP) — A Negro was shot and killed Saturday night, the first to be slain by Army paratroopers since they entered the city to put down the nation's worst racial explosion. The death toll stood at 41.

Detroit and Michigan officials had asked for the disaster designation to make it possible for the city to apply for federal grants to remove debris and restore essential public facilities.

The announcement gave no indication when a decision might be made on whether Detroit can be classified as a major disaster area—something never done before in a riot situation.

Several hours earlier, Gov. George Romney had told a news conference biracial efforts to restore order and give emergency relief to riot victims have "been going on at a terrific pace."

"The Negroes and whites of this community have a relationship with which they will be able to rebuild effectively," the somber governor said.

Romney announced plans to meet next week with business men hit by the wild burning, looting and destruction in America's costliest riot. He also eased the 9 p.m. curfew, changing it to 11 p.m., but kept in force a ban on liquor sales.

The nation's fifth largest city and automotive capital reflected these statistics of the violence: Dead, 40.

Injured and wounded, more than 1,000.

Property damage, more than $500 million.

Arrests, 3,500.

An uncertain calm was enforced by 7,000 National

Fear Hundreds Trapped By Quake

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A violent earthquake struck Caracas Saturday night and hundreds of persons were feared trapped in the ruins of crumbled buildings. Hospitals reported three dead.

At least five buildings collapsed in Caracas as the quake hit this capital city of 1.7 million and shook areas as far west as Maracay, 57 miles away. Reports from the interior were spotty.

The quake spread terror through Caracas. One couple was reported to have jumped in panic from their apartment and to have suffered serious injuries.

A 10-story building crumbled to the ground in the Altamira district in eastern Caracas, three blocks from the U.S. embassy offices. The embassy was not damaged, a spokesman said. In downtown Caracas an ornate tower collapsed from the central library across from the Congress building.

A spire from a nearby church also crashed to the ground.

At Saturday night parties guests were jolted to the ground amidst the tinkle of breaking glassware.

President About To Offer Congress His Tax Package

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is about to pull from his legislative oven a tax package his administration has been mixing for more than six months. It's certain to create in Congress one of the biggest stirs of the year.

The basic ingredient will be a surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes, but the exact recipe is still a well-guarded secret.

The complete cake, however, is expected to reach Congress very soon, perhaps early as this coming week, although some sources say it will be later.

It was Jan. 1 when Johnson proposed a 6 per cent surtax to "keep our economy growing without new inflationary strains, finance the needs of our men in Vietnam and the progress of our people at home; support a significant improvement in our export surplus and press toward easier credit and lower interest rates."

The possibility of a rate as high as 10 per cent has been discussed since then. Johnson has said some adjustment of the 6 per cent proposal might be needed. His advisers, however, have ruled out anything less than 6 per cent.

There are these indications that the tax plan will soon be sent to Congress:

1. The House Ways and Means Committee, which first considers tax bills, is expected to complete action this coming week on Social Security legislation, thus clearing the way for work on a tax bill.

2. Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee, met recently with secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Flower and Budget Bureau Director Charles L. Schultz.

3. Johnson reportedly met this past week at the White House with Mills, thus fulfilling a promise of a personal talk with the committee chairman before actual submission of any tax bill. Mills is not committed on the issue.

4. The Commerce Department reported last week that its economic data now point strongly toward the economic resurgence predicted last January for the second half of this year. The surtax is based partly on a projected economic boom this year. One official said the details of any tax plan are subject to change right up to the time Johnson signs the papers. The tax cake could be iced with a sweetener—a pledge of spending cuts — in an attempt to convince doubting congressmen that a tax increase is really needed.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan has said, however, that enough spending cuts could be made to offset any need for increased taxes. Key officials don't see any possibility of the formal tax request exceeding 10 per cent. In fact, they see the individual rate closer to 6 per cent, if not that.

Fighter Drops Tank, 80 Men Still Missing

SAIGON (AP)—Fire and explosions that ravaged the U.S. aircraft carrier Forrestal in the Tonkin Gulf Saturday killed at least 46 crewmen and injured 56. There were 80 crewmen missing.

The latest casualty figures were announced Sunday by U.S. military spokesmen as the flame-scarred carrier headed under her own power out of the Tonkin Gulf for the naval base at Subic Bay in the Philippines.

The fire, caused when an auxiliary fuel tank dropped from an A4E Skyhawk, raced across the flight deck crowded with jet aircraft fueled and armed for strikes against North Vietnam. It was the worst of three fires that have struck U.S. carriers off Vietnam in the last nine months.

The disaster destroyed 25 jet fighter-bombers worth about $50 million.

Some of 4,300 crewmen, cut off on the 1,039 foot-long deck and lacking asbestos gear in which firefighters worked through the three-hour holocaust, escaped by jumping into the sea.

Some of the 80 listed as missing possibly were aboard other ships that rallied around the Forrestal in the Tonkin Gulf. The spokesman said a ship-by-ship canvass for Forrestal crewmen was under way.

Most of the wounded were transferred by helicopters to

Report Shows Rise In Calls At N. Viet Ports

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence reports show a recent rise in the number of calls by free-world ships at North Vietnamese ports, official sources said Saturday.

As a result, American diplomats are reported to have made known to the countries of the ships involved the continued U.S. interest in curbing such sailings to the Communist North.

Washington policy is to discourage non-Communist trade with North Vietnam through diplomatic means, and the number of free-world vessels calling at North Vietnam dropped sharply from 402 in 1964 to 256 in 1967 and 74 last year.

After declining to a low of 20 in the last six months of 1966, however, the number of North Vietnamese visits by ships flying free-world flags was said to have climbed to 39 in the first half of this year.

The increase was attributed almost entirely to more British-flag ships under Hong Kong registry stopping at North Vietnamese ports.

British officials said the vessels from Hong Kong, a British colony, that are engaged in this trade are either owned by Communist interests or are under long-term unbreakable charters to Communists. They said no ship owned or registered in Britain has gone to North Vietnam since January 1966.

About 80 per cent of all calls by free-world ships at North Vietnamese ports this year were reported to be by the Hong Kong-registered, Communist-controlled merchantmen.

The other free-world vessels which went to North Vietnam in January-July included one Italian vessel, one Maltese and several flying Cypriot flags of convenience, according to the U.S. reports.

The Italian government was said to have told Washington that the Genoa-registered Italian ship was controlled by Communist interests and the Rome government could not stop it from going to North Vietnam.

Repeated U.S. diplomatic representations are being made to the Cypriots about their flag ships going to North Vietnam, the U.S. sources said.

LBJ Asks Truth From Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson ordered his National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders Saturday to shun politics or rubber-stamping and get the truth about the national rash of summertime riots and how to prevent them.

The 11-member commission of civilians was set up two days ago under the chairmanship of Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois in the aftermath of massive violence in Detroit. It met Saturday for the first time, with Johnson supplying guide posts, in the White House Cabinet Room.

By executive order, which he signed on the spot, Johnson told the commission to come up by next March 31 with an interim finding of facts and a final report and recommendation one year from now.

"We need to know," the President said in a statement he read at the session, "the answers to three basic questions about these riots:

"What happened?" "Why did it happen?" "What can be done to prevent it from happening again and again?"

Johnson said the commission is undertaking an unsurpassed responsibility, "as great as any in our society."

"The civil peace has been shattered in a number of cities," he said. "The American people are deeply disturbed. They are baffled and dismayed by the wholesale looting and violence that has occurred both in small towns and great metropolitan centers."

Johnson said he was calling for advice on short-term measures to prevent riots, better measures to hold them in check the day that the most positive thing determined was that it would reassemble in Washington Tuesday morning and hold sessions that day and Wednesday at a location still to be settled.

The Illinois governor said, too, that a request will be presented to Congress Monday that subpoena power be granted the commission.

At the next meeting, Kerner said, the commission expects to have reports from people who have analyzed riots in such spots as Watts district in Los Angeles and in Newark and to get reports from such federal officials as FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, the director of the anti-poverty program, Sargent Shriver, and the secretaries of federal departments most concerned with the riot problem.

The governor said the members feel they ought to travel to other communities — he did not care to mention any at this point — and hold some of the hearings there.

GOP Charges On Riots Start Party Squabble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Differences among party leaders over efforts to blame President Johnson for racial rioting may force some changes in procedure of the Republican Policy Coordinating Committee.

The committee, composed of congressional leaders, governors and former presidential candidates, said in a statement Monday the nation was approaching anarchy and President Johnson "totally failed to recognize the problem."

Written primarily by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, this hastily prepared statement represented the sentiments of party members ever eager to put the political knife to the Democratic President.

But it put former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and some other members in the unenviable position of criticizing Johnson for a situation in which Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., subsequently told the Senate "the blame is on us all."

Morton, former member of the coordinating group and former GOP national chairman, said the committee had acted irresponsibly and accused it of "blatant accusation and pious political posturing."

He added a crack at Johnson by alluding to what he called "callous equivocation in high places by those who would seek political advantage."

Morton's reward was one of those prolonged telephone calls from Johnson in which the senator couldn't get a word in edgewise for 16 minutes. When he did, he reminded Johnson he had criticized the Republicans as well as the President and was calling for a political truce.

The irony of the whole performance was that Dirksen was called upon to read at a news conference the statement which had been prepared by a subcommittee consisting of Dewey, Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., and Colorado Gov. John A. Love, chairman of the Republican Governors Conference.

Dirksen apparently didn't have time to give the statement

How Long The Path To Harmony?

Israel scored a "major breakthrough" in the Middle East war, says Dr. Werner Cahnman, professor of sociology at Rutgers College of Arts and Sciences in Newark.

The breakthrough he means was not in the desert, however, but in German-Jewish relations.

Just returned from several weeks in West Germany, Cahnman had extensive contacts with young Germans from all walks of life. The most striking thing he found was the difference in attitude between younger Germans and those from 35 to 50.

"The older generation still discusses Jews as a race or a religion," he says, "but the young people think of Jews chiefly as individuals . . . Jews are also thought of as the people who founded the State of Israel."

The Mideast war was a breakthrough, he explains, because it gave German youths an opportunity to express support of Israel.

As chairman of the American Committee for Dachau, Cahnman also checked on the progress of a monument under construction at the notorious concentration camp where 34,000 Jews and others perished at the hands of an older generation.

He rejects the notion that today's young Germans should be burdened with guilt over the persecution of the Jews, although he emphasizes that "they cannot escape responsibility for history."

This attitude was summed up by one young German who told him, "If I belong to the people of Goethe and Schiller, I belong to the people of Hitler."

Cahnman now plans, with the support of the German government, to set up an organization to bring young American Jews to Germany to engage in constructive dialogue with German young people.

One wonders if it will take another generation before Arabs can engage in constructive dialogue with Jews — or, for that matter, before white men can sit down with black men in the professor's home city of Newark.

affirm basic constitutional guarantees.

This was the evident implication of his replies to questions as to whether crime has become so prevalent as to threaten internal security. "I am as worried as anybody about the mounting crime rate," he said, "but it has not reached the point where it cannot be dealt with." And when it comes to dealing with crime, he said any steps taken "must be done within the framework of the Constitution."

This is the essential point. Fighting crime by denying the accused some of their constitutional rights undermines rather than strengthens our society. That is the import of Supreme Court decisions in the Miranda, Escobedo and related cases. It is good to find Thurgood Marshall upholding this important truth as he takes his place on the high bench.

Communication

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:

As a resident of South Jacksonville, I am taking interest in the present controversy concerning the water and sewage provision of this district.

The Administration of South Jacksonville is calling for voting in the coming week to decide whether South Jacksonville shall pursue steps to solve the matter independently from the City of Jacksonville.

The written information given out by the mayor of South Jacksonville, Mr. Fanning; the very well attended meeting from the side of the residents called up by Mr. Fanning last Thursday; the general outlines given in this matter in the Journal; the numerous stands of many persons at the Friday radio program "What is on your mind" is creating in total an immense uncertainty for forming a general conclusive opinion to solve the problem in question.

Under these circumstances a binding commitment through voting should be avoided, and not be considered as mature at this very moment.

An urgent appeal of postponement is submitted herewith for the next four weeks. It may be suggested, that the Administration of South Jacksonville and The City of Jacksonville, set up a commission of able businessmen, City architects and engineers to approach the matter in an impartial, broad and farsighted way.

This appeal is directed to Mr. Fanning to give an urgent momentum to postpone the voting.

Rep. Hamilton Dodges A Constituent's Query

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is the cynic who thinks that members of Congress don't read their mail, that letters will go unanswered or are simply popped into file 13.

Congressmen try to answer every (excluding the crackpot jobs) letter they receive, especially if it comes from within the constituency. Constituents vote, you know.

But Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., tells of one rare letter from a student constituent that just had to go unanswered:

"I am interested in a political career," the student wrote, "but there is a slight obstacle in my way. Through no fault of my own, my parents were never married."

"Some people I've talked to think this means I have no future in politics. Others think Congress is just the place for me. What do you think?" Hamilton thinks somebody was putting him on.

This letter, which appeared in a local women's page column, got more than its share of snickers:

"Can anyone tell me anything about an organization called Neurotics Anonymous? Where and when do they meet? How do they attempt to help their members? The way things have been going, I think I'm a candidate."

"Mrs. H. H. Washington" Most who read it just laughed and said, "Naw, it couldn't be!"

We had to double-check — just to make sure — this item in the weekly Capitol Hill Roll Call:

"The Congressional Strangegloves play the Senate Staff Club tonight for the mythical Hill championship. Both teams, having beaten the Supreme Court in league play, have agreed that the Hill title will at least salvage something out of their rather disappointing season."

"The winners may get a night at Harrigan's (a pub) thrown in to boot and a competitive contest is expected."

The author was talking about softball he says.

Youth, You Can't Ignore History . . . So Get With It!

By BRUCE BISSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — In their lust for living in the passing moment, many young Americans imagine they have utterly no need for history.

The notion seems to be that history is the sad product of the squares in the "establishment" and that life can be better lived by ignoring it. Somehow, the young ones suggest, life can be enjoyed in a kind of haven of immediacy, uncontaminated by the evils of the past.

This fantasy, spun mostly by the set which argues that nobody over 30 is any good, borders on the ludicrous.

The late John F. Kennedy, no square himself, would have given them one answer. He liked the old quotation:

"Those who ignore history are condemned to repeat its errors."

There is, of course, a bigger answer. The fullest enjoyment of present moments is really only possible when you know what has gone before. Youngsters who are hung up on the minute-to-minute style of living may not know it, but they are skimming the surface and winning merely the shallowest of satisfactions.

Youth has a normal high quotient of arrogance. Yet it takes an extra dose of it for some young people to proclaim that the only worthwhile thing on earth is what they do today. It is incredible to hear them say: "We don't care what happened last year, or 20 years ago, or in the 19th century. That doesn't affect us."

Watch young people, even of college age, as they drift past historic buildings here steeped in the American tradition. To judge from their behavior and comment, many seem to think the structures are some sort of movie facade dropped in place for their fleeting amusement that day.

Figures like Thomas Jefferson are cut from cardboard. If such a man is adopted at all by the "life-ends-at-30" group, it is usually to suggest that he probably would have shoe-blacked his hair and be fighting with the Viet Cong if he were alive today.

Thomas Paine, early champion of American freedom, must be turning in his grave as on a spit, for the times he has been misused in support of what passes — among many young Americans — as "civil war" in Vietnam.

But mostly the past is never thought of. And in their ignorance, these painfully self-centered young ones are unaware that much of what they say and do has been said and done before. A careful eye and ear to their activities makes this abundantly plain.

The principal difference today is that there are simply many more young people on the scene, and their standard, expected rebellious attitudes have been, in effect, institutionalized — at the very time they are scornful institutions.

Their numbers have given them a sense of strength in their separateness. Misled by the swelling sound of their own voices, they imagine that they are a world island within the world. They are proud of their isolation and "alienation" and seek to magnify these conditions.

In a way, but a very limited way, they are indeed isolated. In full truth, however, they are inescapably bound to the establishment they profess to revile. They live off it, notwithstanding their effort to sever the connection. They are in the stream of history, though they keep trying to cling to the banks and let it go by.

Some day they will pass the dreaded barrier of 30 years. Many of them will find themselves warped into the "system" whether they like it or not. The work of the nation must be done, and they will be doing it.

Banks cannot exist by passing out carnations, in hippy fashion, to passersby. The arena of Congress will not be a "troubador area" like that the New York police set aside for lovers of bongo drums and guitars. Without some commitment to the establishment, there would be no one to grow carnations or make bongo drums.

When the rebellious young reach the great transition and discover they belong to the real world after all, they will also discover the uses of history. They will find that knowing what went before — in practical affairs, the arts, whatever — attaches them to life on this earth, and gives them cognizance of its fullness, in a way no LSD or other fantasy drug can do. Those that cannot make the "trip" with history as their great backup will find they might as well have stayed in the cradle.

Tot's Eating Habits Attention-Getting Device

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our six-year-old daughter eats only potatoes, bread and ice cream, and she drinks nothing but milk. She refuses even to try other foods.

The child is rather high-strung but she seems quite happy and has no problems that I know of, except this one. It has been suggested that we put her in a hospital and starve her into eating. I am reluctant to do this because I'm afraid it might have a bad emotional effect on her. She has never been away from home, even for one night.

Will you please check this out with your medical consultants and give me the results of your findings? Thank you. —A MOTHER

Dear Mother: My consultants tell me that this is a family-created problem and that it can be best handled in the same atmosphere—at home.

Your child is using this peculiarity as an attention-getting device. From now on, place the same food before her that is served to the other members of the family. Don't say anything about what she eats or doesn't eat. In time she will eat normally.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is 17. The girl he has been dating (not steady, but he dates her more frequently than any other girl) is 16 years old and we like her great deal.

Last night our son brought the girl to our home. It was after midnight and my husband and I had retired. We have not made an issue of this but I feel that our son should not have invited her here at that hour. I am also disappointed in the girl for accepting the invitation. She has been a guest in our home several times, but not for midnight romancing.

Am I old-fashioned? Should I tell our son it must not happen again? —CAROLINA MOON

Dear Carolina: I don't know what went on, and if you do you haven't given me much of a clue. Did they come to the house at 12:05—or was it 3:00 AM? How long were they there? Did they raid the ice box and chat for half an hour in the kitchen? Or did they sneak in quietly and neck for several hours?

My hunch is that it was a fairly innocent visit. If kids want to make out they don't usually go home where parents are present. Unless you are positive there was improper conduct, I feel you should not be critical but rather encourage your son to bring guests to the house. Put a curfew on the visiting hours, however—like nobody stays beyond 12:45 A.M.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week my aunt telephoned me and asked if her daughter Eloise could borrow my wedding gown. (I was married two years ago and my gown was very beautiful.)

My aunt said, "We could never afford to buy anything so lovely and Eloise will take awfully good care of it."

I was on the spot and said yes because I didn't know how to say no, gracefully. Now, the more I think of it the madder I get. Eloise is five years my junior and was never a close friend. Furthermore she weighs about 10 pounds more than I do and I'm afraid she'll split the seams.

Is there a way out—without making an enemy for life? —KICKING MYSELF

Dear Kicking: Some brides "OFFER" their wedding gowns to relatives or special friends, and this is fine—but no one should ask a bride if she will lend her dress. Since you have said yes you should stand by your word. I hope, however, other girls who read your letter will learn from your sorry experience.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

How's This For Hobby?

Phone Rings At 3a.m.;
No Surprise To Him

By MICHAEL SHORT
SIERRA MADRE, Calif. (AP) — At 3 a.m. on Monday the telephone awakens Miner Harkness. It is no surprise.

He rolls out of bed and 15 minutes later — as most of greater Los Angeles' other millions snooze safely — is scrambling through the inky night across crumbling granite cliffs hunting a lost hiker.

This, folks, is his hobby. Harkness is president of the 22-man Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team, one of the older and more inventive of 31 teams across the country in the Mountain Rescue Association.

Membership in such a group is more than just a way to kill spare time. It's almost a way of life.

Sierra Madre, a pleasant suburb of 10,000, is 12 miles east of downtown Los Angeles at the foot of the San Gabriel Mountains, whose peaks soar nearly two miles high.

The team's back yard is Angeles National Forest, second oldest and most heavily visited of 154 national forests, a wild area the size of Rhode Island. It looms over the Los Angeles plain, a magnet that offers escape in summer from heat and smog and in winter becomes a giant ski and snow sports center.

It is deadly as well as lovely. Each year it claims, on the average, 20 lives.

The team's goal is to cut that toll.

To join is simple: Just become an expert mountaineer, be recommended by a member, agree to train most weekends, be on call 24 hours daily when possible, be willing to lose three weeks or so a year from work. And it's handy to keep a few bloodhounds around the house.

Members are engineers, photographers, factory foremen — anyone with the will and skill. In 17 years they have been on nearly 1,000 search-rescue missions in four states and Mexico. All but 40 of the 1,200 persons they sought were found alive.

They serve without pay. They make ends meet by passing the hat around Sierra Madre, netting $6,000 to $8,000 yearly.

Officials have estimated that Southern California's five search and rescue teams save taxpayers $500,000 yearly by risking their necks for the "fun" of it.

When a fretful relative of a missing hiker calls police, the Sierra Madre sheriff's substation phones a team member who is on call. He calls the others. Then ancient ingenuity, long experience and modern technology combine.

Thirty-five years ago, when Earl LaLone and his three older brothers were growing up in Sierra Madre and making a few dollars trapping in the forest, they became a de facto mountain rescue team.

"If somebody got lost, the people would get hold of the LaLone boys, and they'd go up and bring them out," said Harkness.

Recalls Earl LaLone, now hefty and mustached at 41: "Years ago we went up there with a rope and a flashlight. There was no calculated searching or map work. It was all guesswork."

By 1950, as suburbs crept up the foothills to join Sierra Madre, the increasing demand for rescues became too much for a one-family team. That year, when a boy was lost, a small army of inexperienced types went looking for him. The boy turned up after two days, but some of the rescuers didn't show up for three more days. The present team was formed that year.

Today each rescuer carries a rope and a flashlight and $600 worth of other equipment. He trains with Sheriff's Department pilots to reach isolated spots by parachuting or by jumping chuteless from a low-flying helicopter. Members of the team have invented devices to make their work easier, a unique tripod pulley for example, to hoist an injured hiker.

Ask a rescuer why he wants to spend his time plucking the unlucky and the unskilled from uncomfortable places, and you'll usually get an evasion like, "Harkness conned me into it."

But LaLone says: "I'm offering what I know to help people out. A person can't go through life without donating something."

Skis were first adapted for military use by the Swedes in 1942.

Nichols Park
Ladies Golf

Bright sunlight, high humidity and some eighty golfers greeted us last Tuesday at the annual Guest Day held at Virginia Country Club. Golfers from Pittsfield, Springfield, Rushville, Petersburg and Jacksonville were entertained with a nine hole golf event and a delicious luncheon, given by the Virginia gals. Jo Landolt, president and the members of her committee deserve a real thank you for a well planned day.

As far as I'm concerned the Virginia gals have one of the nicest guest days in the area. Again I had the pleasure of playing with Marty Zimmerman and Vivian Brown, two real fine gals and tremendous golfers. Incidentally, I'm going to take advantage of Vivian's invitation to play the Rushville Course next week.

Our winners included low gross, Marge Howard, low net Ginny Olson and low putts Della Birdsall. A new ball was given to each golfer scoring a one under par bird on a hole and somehow I managed to do so on the third hole.

Lucy James has a new ball coming for being the lone lady golfer on the Nichols Park Course last Tuesday. Thanks Lucy for keeping the home fires burning!

Remember the Championship Tournament will get underway this coming week. Pairings will be made this Tuesday and one week will be allowed for each match. Play will be in flights, just as the regular Ladies Day events, giving everyone an equal chance to win. Win or lose gals it's a lot of fun, so come on out Tuesday and find out who you play your first match with.

A letter from Toronto reads in part: "In a recent rubber bridge game we were moving toward a slam when an opponent doubled out Blackwood four no-trump bid. What does this sort of double mean and how should we bid over it?"

There is supposed to be nothing new under the sun but this bid is rare, so rare that no one has really thought about it. We would assume that it probably meant that the doubler had one or two drinks too many or it might well be some sort of unusual takeout double for un-bid suits. The way to act over it is simple. Pass with no aces and a bad hand; bid five clubs with no aces and a good hand;

Ernest Hemingway based his novel, "For Whom the Bell Tolls," on his experiences in Spain during the Spanish civil war.

Living with People

Asking for advice is always flattering. You don't have to follow it.

redouble with no aces and a hand that you think can take care of either making four no-trump or hurting your opponents badly at wherever they run; otherwise just show your aces and let nature take its course. Today's hand might well illustrate this rare bid at work. North is looking at a grand total of no high card points but he does have 12 cards in hearts and clubs. He doubles four no-trump and waits for the ax to fall. Nothing bad happens. East and West just run along to their cinch spade slam but when it gets back to South, the wheels start turning. He decided that North's double showed just the sort of hand he did hold. South takes a deep breath and plunges into seven clubs. West doubles and expects sugarplums but all he comes up with are some sour grapes. The spade lead is trumped in dummy. A heart is won by East's ace. East cashes the ace of diamonds and forces dummy again with a second spade. The defense has two tricks in but that is as far as they can or are going to go. South ruffs a heart, pulls both adverse trumps by leading his ace and goes about the business of ruffing another heart. Then he makes the rest of the tricks and has gotten out of his troubles at a cost of only 500 points.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You do bid one no-trump. Your partner raises you to two no-trump. What do you do now?

Seed Treatment
Farm Advisor Pero reported that septoria leaf and glume blotch as well as rust were prevalent in a number of the fields. Pero is advising that farmers in the fall use a seed treatment in their drill boxes when sowing wheat as a means of preventing some of the more common seed borne diseases of wheat.

It was announced that a new soft wheat variety, Ben Hur, will be available for sowing this year in quantity. It is described by Pero as an excellent variety.

FORMER STUDENT PUBLISHES VOLUME OF NEW POEMS

By DR. CHARLES E. FRANK
Every college teacher of English has had to face the problem of students who want not only to read poetry, but to write it too, and to get the instructor's candid opinion of it. There is a certain therapeutic value in writing poetry, even if it isn't very good, but you cannot even hint that to the addict. Nor will your conscience permit you to say "That's great!"

It is a delicate matter, and each teacher has to deal with it in his own way. In most cases the urge to write poetry passes with adolescence, but there are those who have felt it carry with them through life a lasting sensitivity to the creative use of language. And sometimes, the urge persists and produces fruit.

Then the teacher who was gently encouraging has the real satisfaction of reading such a volume as Lee Petty's The House of My Uncle John (Contemporary Literature Publishers, Excelsior, Minnesota, $5.). This volume is attractively designed and printed, and the poems in the collection show a considerable level of technical skill, as well as an impressive range of human experience.

Petty is a disciple of John Berryman, to whom graceful acknowledgment is made at the beginning of the volume. Moreover, he has the same kind of lust for life that Berryman has, and that Walt Whitman and Carl Sandburg had.

There is in this volume no prettiness, no effiteness, no obscurity for obscurity's sake. Rather, there is a very masculine directness and bluntness that is always understandable and often genuinely moving. For those who wish to test this quality for themselves, I suggest a reading of "Someone Not Important Died" beginning on page 81 of The House of My Uncle John.

If you know Lee Petty when he lived here, you will certainly want to read this volume, but even if you didn't, I am confident that you will find these poems of his rewarding.

DELILAH NEWELL HEADS WORKSHOP AT NORTHERN U.

MacMurray College faculty member, Miss Delilah Newell, attended a two day meeting, July 27-28 for all personnel connected with mental retardation having federal grants.

The meeting, held on the campus of Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, was sponsored by the United States Office of Health, Education and Welfare. Miss Newell conducted a MacMurray College workshop in Learning Disorders this summer.

MECHANIZED EROSION — LEBANON, ILL.—An exposed portion of Emerald Mound near Lebanon, appears behind the white shed and brick house (left). Little is known of the civilization which built the mound which covers an area of about two acres. The earth structure is slowly shrinking because it is being sold for use as fill material. Historians want to save the mound, but apparently don't have enough money. It is named for the rich, green grass which covers it during the growing season. (AP Wirephoto)

Carrollton Man Cited For Action In Viet

CARROLLTON — Sgt. Ronald K. Whitlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Whitlock of Carrollton has received a certificate of achievement for action in Vietnam.

The citation reads: "Sergeant Whitlock distinguished himself by outstanding achievement on 15 May, 1967, while serving on a recovery team for an armored vehicle launch bridge which hit a mine as it was traversing a river. Without hesitation or thought of the nearly insurmountable task that lay before him, Sergeant Whitlock began immediately to recover the armored vehicle from the stream.

"Through sheer perseverance and amazing ingenuity, Sergeant Whitlock and his fellow soldiers were able to extract the 68-ton vehicle without diverting troops to provide cover or interrupting combat operations. Sergeant Whitlock's strategic part in the recovery of the vehicle, coupled with his excellent performance, reflects great credit upon himself, the 9th Infantry Division, and the United States Army."

Sgt. Whitlock, 21, was graduated from the Carrollton High school in 1963, and entered the Army December 21, 1965. He arrived overseas last January 30.

When a reporter remarked that there had been some criticism that the commission membership lacked a representative from the ghettos, Kerner said one member had suggested putting such a representative on the staff that will be assembled. He predicted that "all voices will be heard," and it might be through a staff member or a consultant.

The President was completely aware that politics had enveloped the atmosphere hanging over riots. Republicans have jumped on his handling of the situation, and his own utterances have not been entirely untainted by political import.

The President, for example, went to some pains to make it clear he had ordered federal troops into Detroit only after Gov. George Romney of Michigan, a contender for the Republican nomination to run against him next year, had acknowledged that he and the state and the city were unable to halt the rampaging.

But Johnson said in the Cabinet Room meeting: "One thing should be absolutely clear: This matter is far, far too important for politics. It goes to the health and safety of our citizens, Republicans and Democrats. It goes to the proper responsibilities of officials in both parties. It goes to the heart of our society in a time of swift change and great stress. I think the composition of this commission is proof against narrow partisanship."

After assuring the commission of all the support and cooperation it needs from the federal government, the President acknowledged that administrations sometimes have created commissions and expected them to put the stamp of approval on what the administration already believed.

"This is not such a commission," he added. "We are looking to you, not to approve our own notions, but to guide us—to guide the country through a thickening of tension, conflicting evidence and extreme opinions."

"Let your search be free...as best you can, find the truth and express it in your report."

Johnson said he hoped the members would be inspired by a sense of urgency, yet conscious of the danger that lay in hasty conclusions.

In reaching the facts and coming up with conclusions, however, the commission will not have the power of subpoena under the terms of the presidential executive order formally establishing it.

Before meeting with the commission, Johnson conferred with Cyrus R. Vance, former under secretary of defense who was Johnson's personal man on the scene in Detroit. Vance sat in on the commission meeting, too, and Johnson turned it over to him to report what he had seen and found in the nation's fifth largest city.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark were on hand, too.

From Johnson, the commission drew a recitation of more than a dozen questions he said required answering, beyond the three basic ones he had emphasized. He wants the commission to find out:

Whether any riots were planned and organized, why some were contained before they got out of hand and others weren't, why they occurred in some cities and not others, why one man breaks the law and another in the same circumstances does not, how do relationships between the police and community affect the likelihood of a riot or the ability to keep one from spreading after it starts.

One question underscored by the enormous toll of burning, destruction and looting in Detroit focused on the "proper public role in helping cities repair the damage."

Romney and Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit had appealed to Johnson to make the city eligible for federal disaster relief of the type it provides after catastrophic natural disasters.

This never has been done in such circumstances and could embark the government on a costly course if the administration approved it.

Late Saturday afternoon Vance announced that the Small Business Administration would make available long-term, low-interest loans to home owners and small-business men to help them rebuild.

But the White House action stopped short of declaring the entire city a major disaster area, the designation sought by Romney and Cavanagh.

Under the program announced by Vance, the SBA administrator is directed to declare devastated sections of Detroit to be disaster areas. Property owners in those sections can then apply for the federal loans.

The designation sought by Romney and Cavanagh would permit the city to apply for federal grants to remove debris and restore essential public facilities. For the moment, Vance said, there has been no action on this request.

The President wants the commission to find out who takes part in riots, their age, level of education, job history, origins and community roots.

He wants to know, too, what effect the mass media have on riots, who suffers most from rioting, what can be done to help innocent people and vital institutions to escape serious injury, how can groups of lawful citizens be encouraged to help cool conditions, what is the impact of ghetto conditions in stimulating a riot and what federal, state and local programs have been most helpful in relieving those depressed conditions.

John Conrod has been attending Baptist Camp at Lake Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Sansone and daughter, Kathy, are spending the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Urban Sauer.

Mrs. Vern Headen, remains a patient at Passavant hospital where she has undergone major surgery twice. She is the mother of Mrs. Joe Ash.

Mr. and Mrs. John Priepot and sons of Mendon are spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Priepot and sons.

Sarah Wagener Dies At Home In Carrollton
CARROLLTON — Sarah Wagener, 83, of Carrollton died at her home at 3:15 p.m. Thursday of an apparent heart attack.

A life-time resident of Carrollton, she was born April 23, 1884, daughter of Leo and Philippa Wetzel Kaiser. Her husband, Frank Wagener Sr., preceded her in death in 1957.

A brother, William Kaiser, died in 1962 and one daughter also preceded her in death.

Surviving are two sons, Clement and Frank of Carrollton, four daughters: Mrs. George Schild, Mrs. Theodore Koster, both of Eldred, Mrs. Glen Baker of Greenfield, and Mrs. Frank Koster of Carrollton; a brother, Frank Kaiser of Carrollton; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

She was a member of the Catholic Daughters of America, the Altar Society, and the Catholic Ladies Improvement Club.

Friends may call at the Mehrl Funeral Home. The Altar Society will recite the Rosary at 4 p.m. Sunday and the parish Rosary is set at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Requiem mass will be offered at St. John's Catholic church at 9 a.m. Monday. Burial will be in St. John's cemetery.

LOCAL COMBO ON TV TODAY
The Marauders, a combo composed of area young people, will perform during today's Possum Holler Opry television show, at 12:30 p.m. on Channel 10, Quincy.

Members of the group are Steve Farmer, Jacksonville; Mike Hutton, Lynnville; Craig Brown, Bluffs; John George, Griggsville; Bud Bailey and Bub Evans, Pittsfield.

time the chips have been down on major issues.

For example, he endorsed at a news conference Johnson's action in sending federal troops into Detroit, making no mention of the President's emphasis on the fact that Michigan Gov. George Romney had requested the action.

Not all Republicans share the cooperative attitude of Eisenhower and Dirksen toward Johnson. The Republican Congressional Committee fired another verbal volley at the President in its weekly newsletter Friday.

It called Johnson a weak president and accused him of responding with "unpardonable vacillation, indecision and even indifference" to the riot crisis.

However, some House Republicans didn't go along with this. Reps. Charles E. Goodell of New York and Albert H. Quie of Minnesota called in a statement for an end to "recrimination about the responsibility for riots."

Dirksen's theory of dealing with Johnson is that the President is a good American whose performance of his duties ought not to be attacked just for the political pleasure of it.

Besides, the Senate minority leader doesn't think it's politically wise for the Republicans always to be carping, particularly when they beset the President in the midst of a crisis.

caped the arsonists' gasoline bombs. A few opened with "We're Back" scrawled in huge black letters on the plywood panels put up hurriedly during the week to keep out looters who sacked many stores right down to drawers and shelving.

"Rebuilding this city physically will be a lot easier than rebuilding it socially," Romney has said.

Already the brooding distrust of policemen that runs strongly through every urban Negro slum is breeding anger at the way police and National Guardsmen handled the riot.

Minimum bonds of $10,000 were set for all of the 3,500 arrested, regardless of offense, and Negro leaders have charged exorbitant bail was set for the great majority.

Courts announced plans to release without bail as many as 1,000 prisoners held on minor charges, many of whom have already spun sickening tales of wanton beatings and stabbings by police within the prison walls. These stories, some fancifully embroidered, will be enlarged upon, as they have been for decades, in the gossip channels that serve most Negro communities as vital lines of communication.

Teens Injured In Head-On Crash In Brown

MT. SERTING — Two Mt. Sterling teenagers received minor injuries in a two car accident Thursday night on the gravel road northeast of here. The youthful drivers of the two cars were Michael W. Burnett, 18 and William O. Hetrick, 16.

State Police report the Burnett car collided head-on with Hetrick's car on a sharp curve. Burnett was charged with failure to drive on the right side of the roadway. Both vehicles sustained minor damages.

Burnett suffered cuts and bruises and did not seek medical care. Hetrick received care at a local physician's office for cuts and bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Galloway of Mt. Sterling became parents of a son born at 3:30 a.m. Friday at St. Mary's hospital in Quincy.

Stewart Garner of Mt. Sterling is a patient in Schmitt hospital in Beardstown.

Brown County 4-H clubs will be sponsoring a Food Stand at the Brown County Fair here, which opens Tuesday, Aug. 1st. Each Extension family is asked to furnish a two-crust pie, which should be delivered to the stand the day of the family's respective club's work-day arrives.

L/C Virginia Morgan, daughter of Mrs. William Adams of Mt. Sterling, is now serving in Vietnam where she will be on duty for several months.

MEREDOSIA YOUTHS ESCAPE INJURY
Two Meredosias youths escaped injury when the car in which they were riding ran out of control at Chapin at 11:45 p.m. Friday on State Route 104.

State Police said the driver Richard L. Vanhyning, 18, of Meredosia, and a passenger, Harold McDannald, were unhurt in the accident. The car was headed west and ran into a dense fog just east of the Gulf Service Station.

The car ran off the road, struck a highway sign, two mail boxes and a concrete abutment. The car was towed from the scene by wrecker.

The Weather Elsewhere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

STATE

Severe thunderstorms and tornadoes hit western and northwestern Illinois late Saturday, and a funnel cloud was sighted over Quincy.

The funnel passed through without touching down, but severe winds and hail lashed the Mississippi River city for about 10 minutes. Police reported some wind damage, including broken windows and several small fires in trees where broken power lines had fallen.

Two tornadoes touched down near Freeport, but did little damage. A twister hit near Monroe, Wis., very close to the Illinois line, uprooting trees and downing power lines.

Heavy thunderstorms hit the Quad Cities area, where hail was measured at 1 inch in diameter. A tornado alert was in effect for 1½ hours in Winnebago and Stephenson counties, but no tornado appeared.

Earlier, mostly sunny skies dominated the state. Mid-afternoon readings ranged in the low and middle 80s.

Typical mid-afternoon readings included Chicago 80, Champaign-Urbana, 82, Quad Cities 84, Peoria 83, Quincy 84, Rockford 84, Springfield 82 and Vandalia 83.

Fairy-Tale

The blue blood of Europe, headed by Queen Anne Marie of Greece, has assembled here for the event. Official guests include 13 princes, 8 princesses, 5 dukes, 6 duchesses, 11 counts and 10 countesses.

The 4,000 population of Vaduz, the capital, has trebled and for the wedding itself officials figure 30,000 persons will jam the town. Millions more will see the ceremony on the Eurovisions TV hookup.

It's almost a modern version of Cinderella, despite the bride's title. Countess Marie, 27, comes from an ancient aristocratic German family which lost its fortune in World War II. Its lands are now part of Communist Czechoslovakia.

Hans Adam, 22, perfectly fits the role of the fairy-tale prince. Tall — 6 feet 3 — dark and dashing handsome, he was raised in the magnificent hillside castle dominating Liechtenstein and is heir to a huge fortune.

His father, Prince Franz Josef, 60, current ruler of the principality, is one of Europe's 10 richest men.

Hans Adam will inherit six castles in Austria, two palaces in Vienna, a sprinkling of hunting lodges and one of the world's biggest private art collections.

Hundreds of valuable paintings lie in the cellars of Vaduz castle, still hidden from the public. Conservative estimates value the collection at more than $100 million. Prince Franz Josef recently sold a Leonardo Da Vinci to the American National Gallery, Washington, reportedly for $5 million to $6 million.

The wedding is expected to give a big boost to the valued tourist industry of Liechtenstein, which still manages to thrive on its 62 square miles, lies on the Rhine between Austria and Switzerland.

State police said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Groves of Valmeier, was standing near a double set of tracks watching a southbound train when he was struck.

Explosion

showed 25 planes aboard the Forrestal were destroyed or pushed over the side. An additional 31 planes were damaged, spokesman said. The Forrestal's total plane complement was about 80.

With the jets costing about $2 million each, the loss in destroyed aircraft alone approximated $50 million.

The Forrestal's engines were not impaired and the smoke-blackened carrier headed for a rendezvous with a hospital ship before setting course for Subic Bay.

In the war itself, U.S. jets Saturday bombed the Loi Dong military barracks four miles west-southwest of Haiphong, attacked the Trai Thon army barracks 28 miles northeast of Hanoi and reported destroying a torpedo boat 45 miles east-southeast of Haiphong.

On the ground in South Vietnam, a U.S. Marine unit clashed with a South Vietnamese force Saturday in the southern half of the demilitarized zone. Five Marines were killed and 50 wounded.

The disaster aboard the Forrestal occurred only five days after the 76,000-ton carrier arrived in the Gulf of Tonkin for her first combat tour.

The fire set off other fuel tanks and bombs and rockets exploded. Navy officers said exploding 750-pound bombs blasted four holes in the flight deck. Still on station in the Tonkin Gulf were the carriers Oriskany and Bon Homme Richard, both of which launched the strikes Saturday against North Vietnam which hit at military barracks and other targets close to the port city of Haiphong.

A third aircraft carrier, possibly the Constellation, is expected to replace the Forrestal shortly. The U.S. 7th Fleet maintains three carriers at "Yankee Station" for raids against North Vietnam.

In the ground war, a tank-supported detachment of the U.S. 9th Marine Regiment completed an overnight reconnaissance in force in the southern section of the demilitarized zone.

The probe, the second heavy Marine incursion into the zone, was reported to have come under some mortar fire at the end after an uneventful sweep.

There was no immediate word as to how successful the Leathernecks may have been in locating and destroying enemy batteries that shell allied outposts below the zone.

Communists fired mortars and rockets before dawn on four military posts guarding a highway north from Saigon into the guerrilla-infested War Zone D.

The explosions and the counter-fire of American batteries in a three-hour exchange rattled windows in the capital.

The enemy shells killed three Americans and three Vietnamese troops. Twenty-five Americans and 47 Vietnamese were wounded.

U.S. headquarters said there were scattered ground clashes elsewhere but that the war "continued to remain relatively quiet."

Air operations included three B52 strikes at Communist targets within South Vietnam in the 24 hours ending late Saturday.

U.S. pilots flew 157 strike missions over North Vietnam Friday, hitting at lines of communication, storage areas and railway targets.

The Forrestal's planes had a role in these.

McClung-Thies Nuptial Vows At Salem Lutheran

Miss Paula Elizabeth Thies of Murrayville and John Duane McClung of Seattle, Washington were united in marriage in an afternoon ceremony Saturday, July twenty-second, at the Jacksonville Salem Lutheran church.

The pastor, the Reverend Herbert C. Rose, performed the ceremony at an altar banked with white gladioli and pink pompons with greenery. Roy Lovekamp presided at the organ for the nuptial prelude.

The former Miss Thies is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thies of Murrayville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McClung of Seattle.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a silk organza gown over a fitted crepe sheath. Venise lace daisies outlined the bateau neckline, wrists and hemline. Her Chapel train swept from the shoulders and was also trimmed with lace daisies. A petal headdress in lace, studded with pearls, held her veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis with ivy.

The bride's sister, Janet, was maid of honor and two college roommates, Miss Gloria Dobrick of Chicago and Miss Joan Martin of Baltimore, Maryland, were bridesmaids. All were gowned identically in full length frocks of pink Kerate and chiffon fashioned on empire lines. Organza pouff headdresses with tiered veils, matched their costumes. Each carried a colonial of pink roses and white daisies.

Ralph Schnabel of Crown Point, Indiana, fraternity brother of the groom, served as best man. Richard Schuster of Chicago and Ron Hedelius, East Chicago, Indiana, were groomsmen.

The mother of the bride wore mint green Venise lace and crepe with matching accessories. The mother of the groom chose pink silk shantung with corresponding accessories. Each wore a corsage of white roses.

At a reception held at the Holiday Inn the following assisted, Miss Jean McClung, sister of the groom, Miss Lana Blimling and Miss Linda Gibson.

After a wedding trip to Colorado the couple will reside in Griffith, Indiana.

Mrs. McClung graduated this June from Valparaiso University at Valparaiso, Indiana where she received her BA. She will teach English in the Griffith Senior High School. Mr. McClung received his BA from Valparaiso in January of 1965. He is an accountant at Inland Steel Company in East Chicago, Indiana.

Among the special guests at the wedding and reception were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Witte of Arenzville and grandmother of the groom, Mrs. M. L. McClung, of Oklahoma.

GREENFIELD—The former Kristen Nell of Greenfield and her husband, Dr. Donald M. Lake, will be residing in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, after their honeymoon in the New England States and Canada.

The account of their wedding appeared in the July 16th paper. The picture of the bride is used again today to provide a better reproduction of the print. Mrs. Lake is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nell of Greenfield.

Mary Levins, Wisconsin Mar, July Newlyweds

Miss Mary Ann Levins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Levins of 314 Laurel Drive, became the bride of James Edward Thoma, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thoma of Brookfield, Wisconsin, at eleven o'clock on Saturday, July the eighth, in Milwaukee, Wis.

The Reverend James Sauve, S. J., officiated at the nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony which took place in the Church of Gesu.

A sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Joseph Levins of Racine, Wis., was matron of honor. Mrs. Lee Wells and Miss Christine Polacheck, both of Milwaukee, and Miss Virginia Zarob of Chicago, were bridesmaids.

Jerald Volmer of Milwaukee was best man for his brother-in-law, John Levins of this city. Gerald Thoma of Oshkosh, Wis., and Richard Dietz of Milwaukee, were the groomsmen.

Mark Thoma of Brookfield, Wis., was server for the mass. Joseph Levins of Racine and Gerald Potter of Milwaukee ushered.

Janet K. Maginn Of New Berlin Is July Bride

WAVERLY — The First Methodist church here was the setting for the wedding Sunday, July twenty-third, of Miss Janet Kaye Maginn and David Stevenson Killey.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Kenneth Conant before a candlelight altar adorned with palms and bouquets of white gladioli.

James Bramley was at the organ for the nuptial prelude and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Fred J. Wassell.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Maginn of New Berlin. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Killey of Roseville, Illinois.

Mrs. Robert Sturm of New Berlin was her sister's matron of honor. A sorority sister of the bride, Miss Judy Fienne of Downers Grove and a cousin of the bride, Miss Sharon Mitchell of Waverly, were the bridesmaids.

Richard Killey, brother of the groom, was best man with James Killey, another brother, and Warren Sanders of Rockford, serving as groomsmen.

Guests were seated by Robert Sturm of New Berlin; Phil Points of Waverly; Murrell Hollis of Bushnell, Lynn McKee and Phil McVey of Monmouth.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of silk organza with rosepattern French lace fashioned with bouffant chapel train of lace and silk connecting at the empire waistline. Her bouffant veil of illusion was secured to an organza bow, centered with a rosette, accented with lace petals. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centering a white orchid.

The attendants were gowned alike in full length sea foam green crepe, with matching headpieces. Each carried a colonial bouquet of yellow poms.

The mother of the bride wore green linen with ribbon applique and white accessories. The groom's mother was in green silk with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

At the reception held at the church the following assisted, Mrs. Gerald Carney, Mrs. Charles Allaman, Mrs. Warren Sanders, Mrs. Bruce Green, Mrs. Richard Carney, Mrs. Keith Points and Miss Mary Ann Johnson.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside on a farm north of Roseville.

The bride graduated from New Berlin High School and received her BA degree in music education from Monmouth College where she affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta social sorority. She taught the last year at the George D. Barr school in Silvis.

The groom, a graduate of Roseville High School, received his BS degree in animal husbandry from the University of Illinois, and is engaged in farming.

The groom parents entertained members of the wedding party, families and friends at a rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn at Jacksonville the evening prior to the wedding.

Newlywed Brown County Couple On East Coast

MT. STERLING—A late July ceremony at the local First Christian church here united in marriage Miss Dianne Busen of Timewell and John R. Snyder of Hersman.

The Reverend Gary Bass and the Reverend Vernon McDormond performed the candlelight ceremony at an altar banked with white and blush pink glads and palms Saturday evening, July twenty-second.

Miss Janet Kleinlein was soloist and Mrs. Maurice Ivins was at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Busen of Timewell and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Snyder of Hersman.

Miss Patricia Busen was her sister's only attendant and Vaughn Snyder attended his brother as best man. Ushers were John McCoy, Ronald McGaskill, Edward Busen and Chris Roberts.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of peau de soie on empire lines with deep cuffs of Venise lace used on the bracelet length sleeves. The skirt featured a chapel train. A handmade headpiece of lace and pearls held her blusher veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white gladioli, stephanotis, baby breath and lemon leaves.

Miss Patricia Busen wore full length multi-color chiffon over taffeta, on sheath lines, with a tiered veiled headdress in Romance pink. Her flowers were pink gladioli with lemon leaf.

Candles at the altar were lighted by Roger Busen, brother of the bride, and Tom Rankin, cousin of the bride.

Chapin Lutheran Circle Meets At Church July 20

The Mary and Martha Circle of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Chapin met Thursday, July 20, at the church.

Following a hymn, accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Boatman, the scripture reading and a prayer were read by Mrs. Gary Boehs. The lesson on Christian citizenship was given by Mrs. Robert Burrus.

Reports of officers and various committees were given. Mrs. Oren Russwinkel and Miss Ada Schumacher were visitors to the shut-ins.

Hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. Otto Staake, Mrs. Esther Berghaus and Mrs. Martin Staake. Those in charge of entertainment were Mrs. Raymond Fricke, Mrs. Arthur M. Nergenah and Mrs. William Nienhiser.

Guests present were Mrs. David Phillips, Sandra Boehs and Marsha and Marla Staake.

with a pink headdress. Rice bags were distributed to guests by Candace Knight and Debbie Cutforth. Both wore lace frocks and pompon corsages.

The mother of the bride was in pink with white accessories and a corsage of pink sweet-heart roses. The groom's mother chose green chiffon with matching accessories. Her flowers were gold garnet roses.

A reception was held in the basement of the church where Mrs. Vaughn Snyder, Mrs. Robert Seckmon, Mrs. Fred Elliott, Mrs. Frank Price, Mrs. Ronald McGaskill, Miss Jane Hoyt, Mrs. Jonny Moody, Miss Kathy Peterson, Miss Marilyn Busen, Mrs. Ted Markert, Miss Nancy Aldrick, Miss Anne Wiske and Miss Penny Stites assisted.

Delicious refreshments of cake and ice cream were served after the meeting.

GUARDED GARDENING

Summertime cleaners and gardeners need to guard their skin with protective clothing, both indoors and out. For instance, keep hair away from the face by tucking it neatly under a band or scarf. Wear well-fitting flats or sneakers indoors, lightweight rubber boots outdoors. Choose comfortable slacks or jeans for ease and practical, pocketed tops or jackets. Whenever possible, protect hands with a hand cream or lotion and cover up with gloves.

Mrs. Kitchens, Mrs. Davis At Baptist Meeting

Mrs. Anderson Kitchens and Mrs. Earl A. Davis returned last week after having attended the 1967 Conference of Woman's American Baptist Mission Society of Illinois. This conference was a weekend conference, and began on Friday, July 21st and lasted through Sunday, July 23rd.

It was held on the Campus of Judson College in Elgin. The conference was attended by 356 Baptist Women from all over the state. They were housed in the dormitories of Judson College.

The theme was "Seek to Know, Dare to Obey, Risk the Results." Mrs. Harold Zude of New Berlin is State president. The missionary speaker, Mrs. E. Sheldon Downs, with her husband Dr. Downs, had recently returned from 40 years in Assam where Dr. Downs was head of the Garo medical work.

Mrs. Downs, now working in areas of need in the southern part of United States, glowingly told of the work in Assam, which is now identified as Northeast India. She had assisted with Sunday School work, organization and procedures to Garo pastors and teachers; translation, arranged children's songs with tonic sol fa, conducted training institutes and gathered Garo women for Bible study and sewing.

Mrs. Downs, a registered nurse, also served in this capacity during much of the stay in Assam.

The Downs are parents of four children. In 1960 their son was welcomed to the Assam work on the staff of Eastern Theological College in Jorhat.

Another speaker was Dorothy J. Herrin, a native of Kansas, graduate of Ottawa University and speaker's Training Division of the Kansas City, Missouri Advertising Club, who served two years as National Chairman of B & PW for the American Baptist Women.

Mrs. John Peterson of DeKalb, member of the national board of American Baptist Women, was song leader. Mrs. Philip Frazier of Marseilles, was devotional leader.

The Saturday evening service was most impressive as flashlights were used to bring light to the outdoor amphitheatre located along the beautiful Fox River.

Eggs Benedict benefit from being served with freshly cooked asparagus. For the eggs, top toasted buttered English muffin halves with pan-fried ham, poached eggs and Hollandaise sauce.

Business Women's Club Names Virginia Cole "Woman Of The Year"

"Woman of the Year" was the honor conferred on Mrs. Virginia Cole by College City Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association at its dinner meeting held on July 11, at the Howard Johnson Restaurant.

The award is made annually by each ABWA chapter to one of its members. Primarily, the award is based on the progress the member has made in her chosen business field. The extent of her other interests such as community, educational, and character building activities also play a part in the selection.

Mrs. Cole is presently employed as an Unemployment Claims Deputy by the State of Illinois. She attended Greenfield, Illinois public schools, two years of night school at Brown's Business College in Jacksonville, and is a graduate of "Dale Carnegie School of Speech and Human Relations." She has served as Executive Secretary for the Greene County Red Cross, Greene County Chairman for the Red Cross Bloodmobile, Secretary of the Greene County Polio Chapter, County representative on the Illinois of Illinois. She attended Greenfield, Illinois public schools, two National Candidate Virginia joined ABWA during the local chapters first year.

served as its Corresponding Secretary, Chairman of the committee for the selection of the 1966 Woman of the Year, Chairman of two Boss Night Dinners, 1966 Scrapbook Chairman, and is currently Vice President.

As the candidate of College City Charter Chapter, Mrs. Cole is entered in the competition for the National Title, American Business Woman of the Year. Announcement of the winner will be made at the National Convention of the Association, to be held October 20-22, 1967 in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Mrs. Sammy Carithers Little, Program Chairman of the Chapter, introduced Bill Stark, Director of the Instructional Media Center at the Illinois School for the Deaf. Mr. Stark told the group it has become imperative for our children to learn more and learn faster to be able to survive in our rapidly changing world. We live in an electric society — the age of T.V. and radio. We are in urgent need of new methods of teaching. The Federal government is backing many Research projects to find new methods. Education has replaced Defense as the Nation's No. 1 growth industry.

Mr. Stark brought with him a number of the new teaching machines being developed for and used in today's classrooms and demonstrated their use in the development of language and speech for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing students.

Mrs. Bess DeFrates gave an interesting vocational talk outlining her duties as an accountant at the Jacksonville State Hospital.

Mrs. Martha Stark, ways and means chairman, announced the selection of the Friday immediately following. Thanksgiving as the date chosen for the Chapter's fall Bazaar.

Tea chairman Marquerite Robinson asked for names of prospective members to be invited to the fall Hand of Friendship Tea.

Mrs. Donna Ballenger, treasurer, gave the members copies of a budget the executive board had set up for the year and the Chapter voted to accept it as a guide for the year's program.

Mrs. Fern Clinton, secretary at the South Jacksonville School, was formally installed as a member by President Roberta Meek. She was sponsored by Donna Ballenger.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, August 1, at which time the group will visit the Jacksonville State Hospital at the invitation of Richard Tschetter, Supervisor of Volunteer Services. ## Appointments On JFWC District Junior Board

An orientation meeting for the 20th District board of the junior clubs in the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, was held July 25th at Jerseyville by call of the District Junior Director, Mrs. Eldon Kanallakan of that city. Mrs. James White hosted the session, assisted by members of the Jerseyville Junior Club.

Junior club presidents are automatically members of this board and were asked to introduce all new presidents.

Board members voted to continue Mental Health as a District project. Boys Town of Illinois was selected as the second project. The mental health chairman is Mrs. Bill Oldenette of Jacksonville and Boys Town chairman is Mrs. Roger Hurrelbrink of Winchester.

Dates for the District board meetings were set for Aug. 31st at Jacksonville; Nov. 30th at Ashland and Feb. 29, 1968, at Winchester.

The annual Spring Banquet for the District will be in Jerseyville. The fall banquet date is pending.

Mrs. Kanallakan asked members to consider nominations for a District Club Mother, and to present some at the next board meeting on Aug. 31st.

The Director also asked that club president's exchange club yearbooks within the District to make contact thorough.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Runyon

Judith Whitlock, Darrell Runyon Exchange Vows

Miss Judith Whitlock and Darrell Runyon, both of Jacksonville, were united in marriage at a double ring ceremony on Sunday afternoon, July sixteenth, at the Salem Lutheran church.

The altar was banked with white gladioli and daisies. The organist for the afternoon was Roy Lovekamp.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Whitlock of Kane. The groom is the son of Mrs. Ruth Runyon of Jacksonville.

Mrs. John Scheffel of Jerseyville, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and Larry Fortado of Bloomington, Indiana was the best man. Gordon Nolan of Jacksonville and Darrell Whitlock of Carrollton were ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor length gown of taffeta and lace, with long sleeves. A crown secured her elbow length veil, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The matron of honor wore a blue street length dress with white daisy trim. She wore white accessories and carried a bouquet of blue-tipped carnations.

The bride's mother chose a blue dress with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a chartreuse dress with white accessories. Each had a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the cafeteria of the Salem Lutheran School. Those assisting were Mrs. Fred Isringhausen of Carrollton, Mrs. Carl Farber of Manchester, Mrs. Ronald Cox, and Mrs. Richard Dambacher, of Jacksonville.

After a wedding trip to St. Louis, the bride will reside in Jacksonville, while the groom is serving with the Armed Forces in Germany.

The bride graduated from Jersey Community High School, and Hardin Brown Business College. She is employed as an assistant office manager at the Midstate Photo Lab in Jacksonville.

The groom is a 1962 graduate meeting include: ways and means, Mrs. Darrell Day of Jacksonville; special emphasis chairman for national defense, Mrs. Marge Conrod of Winchester.

Press and publicity, press book chairman, Mrs. Maurice Jones of Jerseyville and Mrs. Gordon May, publicity, of Jacksonville.

Auditing and finance committee, Mrs. Lois Spencer of Winchester and Mrs. Mary Jo Smith of Virginia; revisions, Mrs. Roland Todd, Winchester and Mrs. Richard Marr of Chandlerville.

Parliamentarian, Mrs. Robert Black of Jacksonville; courtesy, Mrs. Louise Meng of Greenfield and Mrs. Marvin Werries of Meredosia.

Education, Mrs. James Duling of Ashland; fine arts, Mrs. H. A. Votsmier of Ashland; home life, Mrs. Mary Lou Briar, Virginia and Mrs. Russell Finney, Jr., of Greenfield and public affairs, Mrs. William Goodall of White Hall.

SUBSTITUTE BLUSHER

If you're away from home with only your regular blusher, you can frost it with baby powder. Shake some baby powder into the palm of your hand, whisk your application brush over your regular blusher and then over the baby powder, and brush it on your face. The tiny white particles in the powder will blend in with the color of your blusher to frost it so evening lights and bright summer stars will light your face with a special romantic glow.

Irene Thomas

VERSAILLES—Mr. and Mrs. Everette Thomas of rural Versailles announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Irene, to John Plunkett. Miss Thomas resides in Seattle, Washington, and her fiancé, formerly of Saratoga, Wyoming, also is a resident of Seattle. The couple plans an August wedding.

Gloria Ann Haley

Announcement is made by Mrs. Georgia Haley, 911 South Diamond street, of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Gloria Ann, to James H. Stocker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stocker, all of Jacksonville. Miss Haley is the daughter of the late Reverend G. W. Haley of this city.

The couple plans an October wedding. The bride-elect graduated in 1962 from Seymour High School and this year from Passavant Hospital School of Nursing. She attended Western Illinois University before entering training. Her fiancé graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1960, served four years in the Air Force and is now employed at South Jacksonville Foods store.

over blue taffeta, which featured a detachable train. She also carried white mums and blue carnations. The flower girl wore a white dress with matching headpiece, and carried a basket of white mums and blue carnations.

The mother of the bride wore a pink and gray dress with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a multi-colored dress with white and aqua accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

A wedding reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the White Hall VFW Home. Linda Ehlert, Lila Hammond, and Helen Wiseman assisted at the reception.

After a short wedding trip the newlyweds will reside in Patterson.

The bride attended North Greene Schools, and the groom graduated from the Carrollton High School in 1967, and is presently employed by Hodgerson Brothers at Eldred.

Lora Fry And Dan Gast Wed In Greene County

WHITE HALL — Miss Lora Hazel Fry of White Hall and Danny Dwight Gast of Carrollton were united in marriage the forepart of July in the Barrow Baptist church near White Hall.

The Reverend Donald Crossman performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with white mums, greenery, and candelabra on Saturday the seventh.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fry of White Hall. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Miller of Carrollton.

Miss Helen Wiseman, sister of the groom, and Terry Fry, brother of the bride, attended the couple. Molly Miller and Blake Babcock served as the flower girl and ringbearer. Jerry Kirkback and Robert Byland ushered.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor length gown of Chantilly lace adorned with sequins and seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was secured by a jeweled crown and she carried a bouquet of white mums and blue carnations.

The brides attendant wore a floorlength gown of white lace

Black Shadow Of Crime Creeps Across Suburbia

Editor's Note: Westchester County is synonymous with the good life, home to many of New York City's wealthier commuters. But federal authorities say organized crime has made inroads there, and many suburban areas face similar problems. Here is a report by Associated Press reporter who visited the area.

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The ominous black shadow of organized crime has crept into green, grassy suburbia. Federal authorities say the Mafia helps take out the garbage, and they've charged a milkman with picking up policy bets along with empty bottles.

They have arrested 84 housewives accused of lending their telephones to bookies, and teenagers for using narcotics.

Not in a slum, but in Westchester County, the nation's second wealthiest county, where attorneys and advertising men and Wall Street brokers move when they have a child or two and a raise.

It is the home of the Rockefellers in rolling Pocantico Hills, of Joe Valachi, the Mafia tal-ter, of Reader's Digest and International Business Machines, of highbrow Sarah Lawrence College and of Yonkers Raceway, where the trotters run.

In 1960, per capita income averaged $3,252, second only to Hinsdale, Colo., in the country. In one town, Scarsdale, it runs $30,000 a year a family. But eight per cent of Westchester's 212,157 families have incomes of less than $3,000 a year.

This combination of slums and well-manicured lawns offers green pastures for crime. Residents shift concern to good schools, a water supply, a place to park.

The problems in the urban areas of southern Westchester, bordering New York City's Bronx, are what the Big Town had a generation ago, and what sociologists say rural areas everywhere may expect in another generation if urban blight keeps creeping outward.

Gambling, numbers, policy, narcotics, racial and religious tensions — they all are here. And federal, state and county authorities have moved in, too.

One of the first stops on the clattering commuter lines out of New York's Grand Central is Mount Vernon, a city of 73,000. A sociologist, Dr. Bert E. Swanson, charges organized crime flourishes openly there and is strangling attempts to control narcotics, enforce housing codes and plan urban renewal and school integration projects.

Swanson set off an uproar last month when he said there was utter silence from officialdom surrounding the presence of the underworld in Mount Vernon.

County Executive Edwin G. Michaelian, a former interior decorator, says: "Years ago, early in the 20th century, there were reports the Mafia was operating in the county. If they are here now, the local police should search them out. We'll give them our support."

But crime increased 13 per cent from 1965 to 1966. Narcotics arrests have multiplied in the last three years, and more and more of the arrests are of white teen-agers from good homes.

"We have driven the book-maker out of the stores and off the streets. But it is becoming increasingly difficult," Sheriff Hoy says. "We cannot today apply to the court for wiretapping — one of the tools we need to combat crime."

"The laws have taken our powers away from us," he says. "Give us some laws with teeth."

DAVID POLING

After the June Wedding

Comes the July Marriage

David Poling

By DAVID POLING
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 Saint Paul is not regarded as a big marriage counselor. He offered no advice concerning the seating arrangement at the rehearsal dinner. Bride Magazine gives all the directions for engraved invitations and ushers' boutonnières without fear of his contradictions. Bakers, dressmakers, florists, photographers and limousines operate quite smoothly without him.
 The American wedding does not need St. Paul. Just get me to the church on time.
 But a June wedding does not guarantee a July marriage. A Bermuda honeymoon, a split-level suburb and a place setting for 12 have never been insurance for a lasting relationship. Rather soon the lovely gown becomes simply a storage problem, the dashing cutaway another bill to be paid. And the wedding pictures have moved from the mantle to the attic.
 Thankfully, St. Paul has a word for the July marriage. "And the two shall become one. This is a great mystery." It is that mystery, that baffling experience of conflict and forgiveness, of injury and healing. It is the painful process of shattering childish ways and forming adult maturity. As husband and wife. As male and female. As father and mother. And the mystery shapes us, that we grow together in ways unknown to the marriage manual, the bridal counselor or the catering service.

If you want to write an exciting history book, forget the brides and gather up the stories about the power of older women. With some study and research you will discover how much of this beat-up old world they have nursed, bandaged, sheltered, fed and entertained. Admittedly, the glory, the balloons and bouquets have been thrown to Bathsheba, the Helens of Troy, the Cleopatras, the Elke Sommers and the latest miniskirt. Pure scenery.

The real action is not with the swingers or the starlets or at the discotheques. It belongs to the older women who keep the world turning, the bills paid and the poets fed.

A wonderful example of this is delightfully seen in "The Shameless Old Lady." Tracing the last year of a quiet grandmother, the film shows her good works, firm discipline, abundant love and generous pocketbook. Evil is restrained, youth supported and pomposity deflated.
 I think I saw her in Grand Central Station the other morning. In a bruising crash, a young man passed out cold on the stone floor. Hardly had he banged the pavement when this elderly figure crouched over him, pillowing his head on her purse. Her handkerchief patted his brow and her arm signaled a policeman. She held the crowd back as they lifted him into a wheel chair.

What was she doing but looking after somebody's boy who had bombed out. They're everywhere, these older women. They hold the world together. I see them in hospital corridors, bus stations and outside prison camps. St. Luke tells us that women looked after Jesus when all the disciples had left. You don't find them in television series, slick magazines or in the big plays. The reason is that they are out there in the real world where it counts.

FORE-WARNED motorists are expected to be on the ball on their approach to this section of road that runs between holes of the Westhampton Country Club at Southhampton, L.I. For the protection of motorists as well as pedestrians, another sign reading "fore" might be in order.

CAROLYN BAXTER, 13, and Annie, her Holstein cow, attracted considerable attention as they paraded around Thursday morning in the dairy cattle show, and the judge decided Carolyn was entitled to the Kiwanis showmanship award. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baxter, southeast of Jacksonville and belongs to the East Side Juniors 4-H club. Shown in the photo (Annie in front) are Jerry Harpstead, judge; Chester A. Thomason of the Kiwanis club, and Carolyn.

BOB WILLIAMS of the Victory 4-H Ag club of Chapin is an old hand at winning top awards with his Hampshire sheep and he was feeling absolutely no pain Friday when Renee Davis, Miss Morgan County Fair, handed him the trophy designating his fine ram as the best over all breeds.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams and is looking forward to the annual 4-H Achievement Day sponsored by the merchants of Jacksonville and hopes he'll do as well as he did last year, when he won a $5 meal ticket good at Floyd Sorrell's restaurant.

THE RESERVE CHAMPION ribbon in the dairy show was picked up by "Delight," a petite young Jersey heifer shown by Rick McGinnis, 17, a member of the Arcadia Aces 4-H club.

Dog Days A Myth—But Rabies Always A Definite Threat

During July and August the dog-star Sirius rises with the sun. Ancient astrologers said this event caused dogs to go "mad," and they eventually related this madness to rabies. Since then, late July and August have been labeled "dog days," a time of year when rabies increases.

But this belief is a myth. In reality there is no connection between dog days and rabies. Rabies is a potential disease threat all the time. However, dogs and cats, like humans, do become irritable in hot weather. Ordinarily affectionate pets may become cross and "snap" at people.

Dr. George Woods, professor of microbiology and public health at the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine explains, "We are in what is probably a 100-year cycle of wildlife rabies, a time when rabies is increasing. In Illinois striped skunks are the culprits. Because these animals have a high rate of rabies infection, we call them a reservoir species." Wild animals pass the disease on to man, his pets and livestock by biting them. The saliva of the infected animal carries rabies-causing virus. When an animal or human is bitten by a rabid animal, the virus may move into the nervous system, eventually infecting the brain and spinal cord.

"Stray, unvaccinated dogs and cats and skunks and cattle are the biggest dangers to humans in Illinois," Dr. Woods says. "It is estimated that half the cats in Illinois are homeless. And, unfortunately, Illinois law doesn't require vaccination of cats anyway." In Illinois during 1966, there were 20 confirmed cases of cat rabies—6 more than dog rabies. There were 26 confirmed cases of cattle rabies and 112 confirmed cases of skunk rabies.

The law requiring vaccination of dogs for rabies was passed by the Illinois General Assembly in 1953. It is enforced by county boards of supervisors through county rabies inspectors. By 1955 the effects of the law were obvious. Dog rabies dropped from 205 cases in 1954 to 41 cases in 1955. In 1966 the College of Veterinary Medicine and the Illinois Department of Agriculture confirmed 14 cases.

But any pet or stray animal can be bitten by a rabid animal. If unvaccinated, the animal will probably show characteristic rabies signs within two weeks. The animal's temperament usually does an about-face—a mean dog may become affectionate and a timid pet may become vicious. The pet may wander away from home, biting anything or anybody in its path. It has difficulty swallowing, causing it to "foam at the mouth." The animal often returns home, finds an isolated but familiar spot, becomes paralyzed and dies.

Better Vaccines Sought
People are most likely to be bitten during the "wandering" stage. And being bitten by a rabid or possibly rabid dog used to mean a long series of painful shots that often caused serious side effects. Now vaccines are improved. Although bite victims must get 14 to 21 shots, the injections are less painful and cause fewer side effects.

"A better solution, however, is to develop a vaccine for people likely to be in contact with potentially rabid animals, such as meter readers and mailmen. The vaccine would be given before they are bitten," says Dr. Neil Becker, extension veterinarian at the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Dr. Becker is working with health officials and commercial firms to test vaccines that would prevent rabies in humans. Testing involves vaccinating volunteer subjects, usually veterinary medical students, then later analyzing blood samples for immunity to rabies.

"Our testing has led us to a vaccine that shows great promise," Dr. Becker says. The vaccine is now approved by the Food and Drug Administration and is available for sale to physicians. Meanwhile researchers are still seeking a better treatment for bite victims.

Teach The Children
"The best way to prevent rabies is to learn about it and teach your children about it," Dr. Woods says. He outlines the following steps for rabies prevention:

—Have a veterinarian annually vaccinate your pets, both dogs and cats.

—Support stray dog control; make sure your own pet wears its rabies tag and license, and quickly report any stray animals hanging around your home

Scott Soybean Variety Plots Coming Along

The soybean variety plot on the Truman Scott farm, five and a half miles east of Winchester on the Woodson blacktop road, "looks real good," says George Myers, Scott county farm adviser. Variety differences are showing up now and will be becoming more pronounced from now until harvest time.

Variety signs for the eleven varieties will be put up some time this week or early next week. So when you are in the area why don't you stop and take a look?

A field day is in the process of being planned for early September.

While on the subject of soybean field days, I might pass on some information from Cass County Farm Adviser Russ Meredith. He informs me the John Reiser soybean field day will be held Monday, August 7, at 1:30-4:30 p.m. There are many things to see. The regional soybean lab has plots as well as micro-nutrients, fungicides, aqua humus, and many more. Most of the wheels from the University of Illinois agronomy department will be there. Mal Shurtleff will be there so if you have soybean problems bring them along.

The field day will start at Reiser's house located in the extreme southwest edge of Ashland.

Corn, Soybean Loans Mature

Monday, July 31 is the maturity date for price-support loans on 1966 crops of corn and soybeans.

Lester E. Martin, chairman, Morgan County Agricultural Conservation committee, points out that growers who have these crops under loan may redeem the crops at any time through the maturity date by paying off the loan plus interest. Growers with loans on farm-stored crops also have the option of extending the loan under resale.

Substantial quantities of 1966 crop corn and soybeans have been put under price support loans this year, but many loans have already been repaid. As of July 27 crop loans in Morgan county were outstanding on 84,682 bushels of corn and 14,029 bushels of soybeans.

to the police or dog pound.

—Teach children not to play with strange pets and to avoid handling wild animals.

—Keep track of your pets on camping trips and other outings. A friendly scrap with a wild animal could mean exposure to rabies.

—If bitten, cleanse the wound immediately with soap and warm running water. See a doctor immediately. Try to catch and confine, but do not kill, the animal.

The American Veterinary Medical Association has published an excellent pamphlet entitled "What You Should Know About Rabies," which is available from your local veterinarian, Dr. Woods says.

Judges Of Pork, On The Hoof, Are Only Human

Charley Jones, northwest of town, has been a pioneer in the swine evaluation program. He has advocated for years that the true value of a market hog is not how he looks as he strolls and grunts around, but how much good, desirable meat he delivers, when he's hanging on the rail of the cooling room.

BRIMFUL and running over By Jim Brim

Have you ever seen your farm from an airplane?

It's a worthwhile experience and worth what it may cost you. It will give you a fresh look and you might get some new ideas. You'll see things you never noticed before.

Particularly interesting are wet spots, different shades of green showing fertility response or lack, washes, etc., which indicate erosion, weeds, brush effects, and all sorts of things. Don't forget your camera and have a nice ride.

Are you keeping your records up to date?

With tax increases, etc., it is going to be even more important to record all purchases.

Pay by check—and on each check note what the check is for. Be sure to mark non-deductible items and note if cash is received as change.

Deposit all income in the bank and prepare and keep duplicate deposit slips. List each item separately and on the duplicate list the source of each item on the deposit slip.

Keep all records—checks, deposit slips, account books and other records for at least three years after the end of year in which the transactions occurred. Before destroying any records be sure this can be safely done.

Now you should...
...Keep cool.
...Eat sweet corn.
...Avoid sunstroke.
...Don't over exercise.
...Buy a new flag.
...Pick blackberries.

Keep hogs cool, with shade, adequate water. Consider fogger, water sprayer or wallows. Keeping sows and boars cool during the breeding season may result in larger litters. Keeping boars away during hot daytime hours will help, too.

Avoid moving hogs during hot spells. Take precautions when marketing. Haul one or two less hogs per load. Sort early in the morning, let them quiet down before loading, sprinkle at rest stops on long hauls.

It is much easier to be critical than correct.

Shown at left, he got a special kick out of the Jacksonville adult barrow show held Tuesday night at the fairgrounds. This was judged by Mel Fink, extension regional livestock specialist from Clinton, before the hogs were hauled over to be slaughtered and evaluated by the meat specialists of the Virginia Packing Co.

There were 83 barrows in the show: 82 very fine ones, and a joker.

The latter was named "I'm Ashamed," and he was entered by Jones "as the horrible example."

"Nobody in the world should raise such a terrible hog," Jones said. "But a farmer not more than a hundred miles from here raised one. I saw him, and bought him. He'll easily be the poorest hog in the contest."

And he was.

The Good - The Poor
The No. 1 hog in the contest, which was sponsored by the Morgan County Pork Producers, had at 203 pounds live weight only 1 inch of backfat, a loin eye of 5.71 square inches and a ham-loin percentage of 41.8.

The specialists in Virginia bragged on this carcass very much.

And they had to put Jones' "I'm Ashamed" at the bottom of the entire list. At 180 pounds live weight he had 1.43 inches of backfat, a loin eye of 2.4 square inches, which would make a meat measley pork chop, and his ham-loin dress-out percentage was only 32.34 per cent.

Tuesday night's judge of the junior and adult barrow-carcass shows did mighty well, say the cutters at the Cass county packing house, but there is still much to learn about the business of buying pork on the hoof.

A hog can fool anybody, and especially the experts.

WEALTHY MATADOR
Manolete, one of the world's most famous matadors, was also one of the world's wealthiest. When he was killed at the age of 30 in 1947, he had made the equivalent of $4 million, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

THIS PHOTO shows Mel Fink, the judge, as he looked over the barrows and exclaimed, "I wouldn't be surprised a bit if I missed putting quite a few of these hogs in their right places."

He was truly a prophet — he missed quite a few of them but on the whole his judgment turned out to be most creditable.

Directly back of him is Martin Burrus of Arenzville, who enlivened the show by his running commentary on the barrows as they came in the show ring, what they weighed, how they walked, etc., etc.

The crowd liked it.

Johnson To Head Institute Panel

Tom Johnson of Ashland, president of the Illinois Future Farmers association, has been selected to take a prominent part in the unique 1967 youth program of the 39th annual national farm business conference of the American Institute of Cooperation at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 6-9, when he will serve as chairman of a panel discussion on the topic "Are Co-ops 'Tops' in My Community?"

Theme of the three-day meeting will be "Cooperatives-Pacesetters," according to Dr. Walter Jacoby, A.I.C. director of youth education.

The Institute is chartered as a "University" in Washington, D.C., and is the educational and research organization for farmer cooperatives. It meets each summer on the campus of a prominent Land-Grant College.

Local Boys Do Well In Section 15 Fair

Jacksonville FFA members placed high at the section 15 Vo Ag Fair at Carrollton Friday.

Robert DeOrnellas had the grand champion barrow over all breeds with his spring hamshire barrow and received a trophy for this grand champion from the Wayne Feed company. He also had reserve champion barrow and reserve champion female over all breeds with his hampshire. He had first place with his spring gilt, spring breeding litter, yearling gilt, two barrows and a market pen in the hampshire class.

Don Magelitz, a freshmen, placed first with his spring gilt, his two spring boars, barrow and a market pen in the Berkshire hog class. He also had two seconds with his yearling gilt and one barrow.

David Armstrong, another freshman, placed first with his Chester Whites in the spring gilt, yearling boar and a market pen classes. He also had a second with his spring breeding litter. He placed fourth with a spring boar and fifth with a another spring boar and gilt.

Robert Armstrong, a junior, had a reserve champion boar over all breeds; he also placed first with a spring boar and spring breeding litter with his Chester Whites. He had seconds with yearling boar, barrow and a market pen; third with his spring boar and another barrow, and fourth with one of his spring gilts. He placed first with his Hereford cow and second with a Hereford heifer.

Ed Ward, a junior, took first with his spring boar, spring breeding litter, all in the Duroc hog show. He had a second with a spring boar, and fourth with two market barrows and a market pen.

Jim Burrus, a junior, placed first with his spring boar and barrow in the spotted Poland China breed, third with spring gilt, spring breeding litter and a market barrow.

Ed Becker, a junior, placed second with his Angus cow and had reserve grand champion female over all breeds; he also placed fourth with a bull and fifth place with a steer.

Other Jacksonville FFA members who showed at the FFA Vo Ag Fair were John Long, Don Headen and Gail Reid.

Twelve schools from section 15 participated in the section 15 fair this year.

Cass 4-H Clubs To Celebrate Debt Payment

VIRGINIA — The Cass County 4-H Federation plans a celebration party at Western Illinois 4-H Camp on July 31 in recognition of making its final payment on the $5500 goal assigned to the county when the camp was organized in 1947.

Western Illinois 4-H Camp is located on an 80 acre tract on Lake Jacksonville. Facilities for 250 campers each week have been constructed. Each year about 1300 4-H'ers enjoy a week long camping experience.

From a humble beginning in army surplus tents to modern facilities valued at $100,000 is the story of Western Illinois 4-H Camp. The buildings were built as camp funds became available. Each of the 19 counties in the camp association were assigned goals to meet. This was determined by 4-H enrollment and size of county. About one-half of the funds were to be raised from business firms. Cass County chose to raise the entire amount by 4-H members themselves. This has taken a little longer but has been well worth the effort.

A special 4 year program will end on July 30 when the final payment will be made. A ceremony will be held at the 4-H camp commemorating the occasion. Robert Huffman, president of the 4-H Federation, will present the final check to Frank Mynard, president of the state camping committee.

Members of 4-H and 4-H leaders have been invited to attend the celebration. Following the ceremony the group will enjoy swimming and an outdoor cook-out.

CHARLEMAGNE

Amvets Program Of Social Events Approved By Post

Jacksonville AMVET Post 100 met in regular session July 25th at the AMVET home with Commander Shirley Weems presiding.

Colors were posted by Provost Marshall Edward Witham, opening prayer given by Chaplain H. W. Dodsworth and the membership joined in the reading of the preamble.

Minutes of the previous meeting of the post and minutes of the executive committee meeting were approved as read by acting Adjutant C. P. Siegfried and the semi-monthly financial report was approved as made by Finance Officer Vernon Rahe.

The following 12 members, Junior Cloys Martin, Herman S. Stocker, Jr., Wm. A. Hutson, Burnell Rentschler, Clarence Hawkins, John A. Gainer, George Sabo, Jack L. Hutton, Hubert H. McIntire, Stanley W. Hayes, Carl L. Berdzinski and William H. Bryant were elected into membership during the month of July.

Edward Witham, chairman AMVET baseball bus trips, stated that the next scheduled bus trip to see the St. Louis Cardinals in action will be Sunday, August 13th, and stated that the bus will depart from the AMVET Home at 9:30 a.m.

Hubert Burleson, hospital chairman, made mention that the Post will entertain a group of hospitalized veterans from the Jacksonville State Hospital at the post home on Wednesday night August 2nd.

Jr. Vice Commander, Gerald Cosgriff, announced that two dances for AMVETS and guests were scheduled during August; one on August 4th at which time the Clark Bros. will provide the music and the other on the 19th when the Bill Baird Combo will provide the music.

He also stated that the annual AMVET family picnic will be held the evening of August 8th at the MacMurray cabin. Auxiliary members are to take covered dishes and table service and the Post will provide the meat, beverages and hot dogs for the children.

Clifford Upchurch, Robert Curry, Gerald Cosgriff, Vernon Rahe and John Beadles were named as post delegates to the national convention which will be held in Hollywood, Florida, August 24th through the 27th.

Vernon Rahe, chairman of the dinner-dance in honor of State Commander John P. Beadles, announced that this social event will be held on Saturday, September 16th. He also announced committee appointments on arrangements, made mention that Past State Commander D. Arthur Connelly of Chicago will serve as M.C. and that Jackie Leonard and his Band will provide the music for dancing.

At the close of the meeting closing prayer was given by the chaplain, colors were retrieved by the provost marshal, and meeting adjourned.

SWIM CLASSES NOW UNDERWAY AT CARROLLTON

CARROLLTON — Mrs. Neil Carrico announces that the first week of swim classes was completed successfully on July 21.

Her assistant is Larry Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price of Plainview, formerly of Carrollton.

Other helpers are Miss Judy Nims, Miss Karen Diehl and Miss Mary Frances Mehl. Mrs. Carrico said that the classes recessed for the Greene County Fair and will begin again on July 31 for a second week of instruction.

She notes that some young people may wish to enroll who did not have an opportunity earlier.

ELLIOTT RENEWS SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MAC STUDENTS

Two Jacksonville residents have been named recipients of the Elliott State Bank Scholarship at MacMurray College for the 1967-68 year. They are: Cleta Jefferson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson, Sr., 236 E. Douglas; and Robert E. Osiek, son of Mrs. Floy M. Cannon, 921 W. State.

The Elliott State Bank Scholarship was established in 1963 by the Elliott State Bank in Jacksonville, and provides two scholarships awarded to a boy and a girl living within the greater Jacksonville area. Miss Jefferson and Osiek held these scholarships last year.

At MacMurray Miss Jefferson is majoring in Spanish and is active in Alpha Lambda Delta, Belles Lettres, Spanish Club, and is a member of Cap & Gown, the senior women's honor society.

Osiek, a sophomore at MacMurray, played tennis and was a member of the National Honor Society at Jacksonville High School. At MacMurray, he has been named to the Dean's List.

MORE ACRES MAKE BIGGER CROPS

As of the first of July, U.S. crop prospects were better than usual. The principal exception was in Texas, where severe drought has burned crops and ranges.

During the first half of July, a dry belt developed across central Illinois and Indiana. Corn and most other crops are a little later than usual, possibly 5 days to a week behind the normal schedule.

Corn: On the basis of crop

BLUFFS SOLDIER HOME AFTER YEAR IN COMBAT ZONE

BLUFFS — Specialist Four Tom Goldsborough, who has been in Vietnam for the past year has received his discharge and returned to his home in Bluffs Saturday. He was met at the airport in Springfield by his parents, Rev. and Mrs. M. D. Goldsborough and Pam and Miss Connie Tubbs.

Seaman Recruit Robert Jeffery Albers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Albers, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training Center and is on leave at home.

Marine Corporal Clifford Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carpenter, is serving with the second Marine Division based at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Erickson of Minneapolis, Minnesota are visiting Bluffs relatives.

Mrs. J. A. Knoepfel has her knee in a cast as a result of a fall in Jacksonville recently.

Miss Karen Schoessler and Henry Schoessler of California are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guss Andres and other relatives in Bluffs.

ON SUMMER VISIT

CARROLLTON — Mr. and Mrs. Larry Price are spending the summer in Carrollton with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Siemer, parents of Mrs. Price, who is the former Cheryl Siemer.

conditions existing on July 1, the USDA has forecast corn production at 4.5 billion bushels. This would be a new record — 10 percent above the previous record set last year. This forecast, of course, was made subject to revision — as the weather is more, or less, favorable to the crop during July, August, and September.

Most of the increased production, if it materializes, will come from more acres. Farmers have about 61 million acres of corn this year — 8 percent more than a year ago. If growing conditions are about average for the rest of the summer, the USDA expects the national average yield to be 73.5 bushels per acre — about 1.4 bushels more than last year, but 0.3 of a bushel less than 2 years ago. Considering the way farmers have poured on the fertilizer and adopted other yield-boosting practices, this projected national average is not particularly large.

The official forecast for the Illinois corn crop is 996 million bushels — the largest total for any state. The average yield for the state is estimated at 90 bushels per acre — 10 more than in 1966. The yield indicated for this year is 4 bushels less than the record of 94 bushels per acre set 2 years ago.

Soybeans: Following customary practice, the USDA did not forecast soybean production in July. The first official forecast of yield per acre and total production will be made on August 10, reflecting conditions existing on August 1.

The soybean acreage has been estimated at a record 40.1 million acres — up 9 percent from last year. We would figure the average yield at about 24.5 bushels this year. That's about the average yield for the past 6 years, though 1 bushel less than last year. With such a yield per acre, total production would be around 980 million bushels — 5 percent more than last year.

Wheat: The production of wheat has been estimated at 1.6 billion bushels — 22 percent more than last year and 9 percent more than the previous record crop produced in 1958.

Here again, the big crop is mostly the result of more acres. Acreage harvested and to be harvested is figured at 60 million — one-fourth more than a year ago. The average yield is estimated at 26.6 bushels per acre — practically the same as the past 2 years, but 1 bushel less than the record set in 1958. Conclusion: Increased acres of corn, soybeans, and wheat are helping to produce record crops this year. The prospective crops are big enough to begin to rebuild corn and wheat stockpiles as well as adding to the already record stocks of soybeans. L. H. Simerl, Extension Economist, Agricultural Marketing

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

The saloon keepers of this city came to the conclusion last week, to close up their saloons. The open sale of liquors, except by the druggists for medicine, has therefore been discontinued. From the number of kegs of beer, heretofore furnished to the saloons, it is estimated that six thousand glasses of beer were drunk in Jacksonville every day. We learn that the large stock of lager manufactured at the Morgan brewery, to supply the summer trade, is entirely exhausted, and that circumstance probably had something to do with closing the saloons.

A dispatch was received here yesterday announcing the death of Jno. N. Kaiser, late of the firm of Kaiser & Bauman, at Fort Scott, Kansas, to which place he had recently removed with his family. The remains are expected to arrive to-day and will be buried with Masonic honors.

Myers & Knollenberg have received several barrels of new brand Virginia and Missouri smoking tobacco. It is very choice.

The city surveyor has been authorized to ascertain the probable cost for two iron bridges over the Mauvaisterre. Mrs. Jas. M. Gentry brought to our sanctum for inspection, a few days since, a small box fitted with sides of glass, containing some 20 pounds of the finest honey in the comb we have ever looked at. Esq. Sutton was the lucky purchaser, at 40 cents per pound.

The wild bees, once so plentiful in this area, were getting very scarce 100 years ago. The bee trees were usually cut down in the fall of the year. Indian summer was the favorite time. Naturally the swarm perished. Honey became very high priced and quite a few men began turning their attention toward keeping bees, with Gentry and Col. William Camm becoming very successful in the business. Our apiarists would certainly like to sell honey for 40¢ a pound today.

From the Carrollton Gazette: We learn that the new fifteen cent currency will soon be distributed to the public from Washington.

We are told that the stock shipments from this place are getting to be immense, even so great that the railroad company finds it difficult to ship it off as promptly as could be desired. On Wednesday morning, twenty-five car loads were shipped from the yards of William L. Greene, and eighteen the day before.

We notice a great amount of building stone being hauled to and through this city from the large quarry south of town.

Things go to show that Carrollton is improving in more ways than one. We notice that a neat stone walk is being laid in front of the drug store of the Smith Bros., by C. D. Hodges, the owner of the building.

From the Beardstown Central Illinoisian:

The river, what there is of it, is getting to be an important item of interest at this point. The City of Pekin, down on Wednesday, reports dragging the bottom all the way down. "The Sweepstakes Thresher" takes the lead in this section. Joseph and Richard Lightfoot purchased one recently of H. T. Foster, and the machine works admirably under the management of the above named gentlemen. They have a good "rig" and can thresh grain decidedly fast, and at the same time clean and satisfactory.

Some of our young gents and ladies, accused of violating city ordinance by riding fast horses through the city, were invited into the Police Magistrate's office last week and shelled out accordingly.

The Lop-Eared Dutch

A hundred years ago James R. Bailey, editor and publisher of the Jacksonville SENTINEL, was writing about "the German element in our town" in honeyed words.

This was a definite switch on the part of the editor.

During the Civil War the Germans were solid in support of the Union, strongly opposed slavery and voted the Republican ticket.

At that time Bailey, who lived and thought and labored around the clock every day in behalf of the Democratic party, referred to the Germans as "the lop-eared Dutch" and "the sour-croeters."

But with the end of the war and the adoption of a city charter for Jacksonville and the election of a "bone-dry" mayor and city council the Germans began having serious doubts about the wisdom of continued support of the Republican party.

Bailey saw this, and began praising them with the idea of getting them to switch parties. The Democrats easily controlled the county offices, since only Jacksonville, Lynnville and Mauvaisterre precincts ever turned in a majority for what was becoming labeled as "The Grand Old Party."

A Change Of Pace
He even went so far as to write up a long story about the Jacksonville brewery north of town. The "lop-eared Dutch" overnight became "our illustrious citizenry of Teutonic extraction." The Turnverein suddenly became a most important organization, and its Saengerfest in October was rated the greatest event in the music world.

Although he had completely ignored the singing festival the year before.

The Germans in Jacksonville, especially "those of lager beer propensities," never quite knew what to think of Jacksonville. They liked most, nearly all, of the town—but then so many of the people, especially those from the East, were against "nature's own and best medicine, lager beer, made pure of barley and hops and yeast, and then put aside to ripen to greatness."

Around 1846—I'm too tired right now to go to the public library and look it up—the local town board interpreted a new law passed by the legislature as giving the board the right to completely regulate the liquor traffic, and it ordained the town dry.

The Jacksonville Law
This was immediately challenged by the Germans, but the Illinois Supreme Court ruled within months that the town board did possess this power. In those days you could get a case through the Supreme Court in less than an ordinary lifetime.

This ruling became known as "The Jacksonville Law." And it touched off riots and complete defiance of law and order.

When the Supreme Court issued its ruling it so happened that the town board of Chicago was made up of three prohibitionists and two men who didn't care much one way or the other.

So the board ordered the immediate closing of all "groggeries in the town."

This touched off a real riot, with most of the heavy fighting in Lake street. Casualties among the police force were nearly 100%, for some of the cops were attempting to obey the orders of the board, but most of them were on the side of the saloon keepers.

A Change Of Pace
The town board met in emergency session and repealed the silly edict, and put in a license system.

This the town wheels in Jacksonville refused to do, piously proclaiming "no covenant with the Devil."

So there were all the way from 30 to 40 saloons in this Athens of the West, blithely dispensing beverages without paying a cent into the town treasury.

In August, 1867, Editor Bailey said the local brewery was hauling in 32 half barrels of beer a day, enough to fill "6,000 glasses, which is almost as much as the population of the place."

According to my arithmetic it would take 6,000 pretty big glasses to hold 32 half barrels. Today most of our beer is sold in bottles and cans, with draft beer sales in the city running around 10-12 half-barrels per day.

The local brewery went broke around 1885. It became unfashionable to drink beer, times were hard, and the prohibitionists were swinging hard with the new local option law. Thousands of little breweries in the nation went to the wall. One of Beardstown's two breweries closed down, and the other one just tottered along. Arenzville never went dry, and the brewery there did a very fine business, and soled many a parched throat in Jacksonville.

The Exodus

But many of these parched throats had moved west, to if not greener pastures at least wetter ones. St. Louis got many of them. Quite a few went to Peoria and LaSalle. And there were Jacksonville societies in St. Joe, Mo., Kansas City and Denver.

Of course the trend of migration, then and now, is toward the setting sun. Many of the Germans would have left Jacksonville even if the town was wet. But it is interesting to note that none of them migrated to Kansas, a bone-dry state overrun by crackpot editors, long-winded politicians, hot winds, drought, Greenbackers, "Populists and advocates of "equal rights," whatever that is.

But many of the Puritans in this county were attracted to Kansas. It looked good. They could sell their farm land here for $75 an acre and go to a God-fearing, liquor abhorring state where they could buy A-1 land for $20 to $25 an acre.

Kansas: Truly Dry
Of course the drought and hot winds broke nearly all of them. Some of them got back to Morgan county without a dime in their pockets. Others limped farther west.

In retrospect, the Germans were a significant force in this city a hundred years ago. But nearly all of them left.

It's pretty obvious that this piece is getting away too long. So I'll try some time later to tell about the Turnverein-halle and its activities, and how it flourished at 302 North Main street, and died out so that Jim Coultas, the debonair one, and his associates would one day just tear it down.

This brought mist in the eyes of a few old codgers.

After all, Schumann-Heink, Ernestine herself, one time sang there, just as she sang in all of the courts of the civilized world.

HUMORS of the day

July, 1867
An exchange, in speaking of the magical strains of a hand organ, says: "When he played 'Old Dog Tray,' we notice eleven purrs in front of the machine, on their haunches, brushing the tears from their eyes with their fore paws."

A new expedition to explore our new possessions in Russia America is talked of. It is to be composed entirely of democrats. They have been frozen out of office so long that they will be able to stand the climate.

The New Republic, a temperance paper published in Chicago, says that at the Turners' Society convention recently held in Peoria, a German child was taken and publicly baptised with beer, and christened Jesus Chris. Whether the baptism was by sprinkling or immersion is not stated.

Japanese women figure they have either too much or too little in those areas that draw stares and whistles from the opposite sex. And a booming business is catering to their desires to add and detract in crucial portions of the anatomy. Egos and upper torsos are being inflated by injections of silicone. Slanted eyelids, traditional mark of the Oriental, are sliced away in a relatively simple operation to give a round-eyed, Western look. Beauty clinic machines such as the one above are designed to trim down ankles and calves. And the girls seem perfectly willing to endure any amount of "torture" as shown at right, to win the favor of Japanese men and emerge victorious in their battle of the bulge.

Strategic Shift in the Orient

On the march against misplaced pounds are the young women of Japan, driven by men who are under the influence of a western culture that reveres trim ankles and bounteous bustlines, two Oriental weaknesses.

Onward and upward toward slimmer ankles and firm legs, this young hopeful struggles under an apparatus at the "Venus Club" in Nagoya, Japan.

Students Give Answer

True Or False? Most Russ Wish To Leave

By PETER BUCKLEY
Canadian Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP)—True or false? Most Soviet citizens would jump at the chance to turn out the Communist party or leave for greener pastures abroad.

True or false? Western technology is on the verge of being smothered by the Soviet Union, whose millions of students work, beaver-like, on study courses that put the West's to shame.

If you answer "true" even "maybe" to either of those questions, you won't get a passing grade from three Canadians who have just spent nearly a year studying at Moscow University.

Maureen Sager, 30, is a daughter of high school teachers and came here to work on a master's thesis on Crimean author Sergei Tsensky. Norman Segalowitz, 21, plans to continue his studies in psychology at McGill University after looking over Soviet efforts in his field. Samuel Cioran, 27, holds a master's degree in Slavic studies from Indiana University.

They were among seven Canadians who attended Moscow and Kiev Universities in the last school year on scholarships arranged through their universities or student exchange programs.

"The students we saw don't work any harder than ours do at home," Miss Sager said. "The top ones work just as hard as our best pupils do, but the mediocre ones probably work less."

All three felt that the image of the Soviet student has been exaggerated in the West.

Similarly, there are plenty of myths about the relationship between Soviet citizens and their government.

"It's foolish to say that people here are against their system of government," Cioran said. "They see very real possibilities in the system and want to do something with their society—but using their own system."

"There's no real anticommunism. Many of them see a need for improvements, but they support the basic structure."

All three had a rare opportunity to see Soviet life at close quarters.

"The students turned out to be of both kinds, those who were willing to discuss most topics and those who weren't," Segalowitz said.

"Quite a number were sort of constructively looking at their problems and at the future of their society rather than just taking some strict ideological line."

Cioran interjected: "You can talk politics quite easily with them, but on a friendly basis, the way we do at home."

Miss Sager agreed: "At first you might avoid the topic—in the same way that it would be artificial to launch into a political discussion with strangers in Canada—but after a while there's no problem."

Most of the Soviet students needed financial help from their families.

University students draw a salary from the government while they study. But the Canadians discovered that for many the salary is only 30 rubles a month—$33 at the official exchange rate—and five rubles of this goes toward rooming costs.

Advanced students get higher stipends, and books for all students are theoretically free.

As to the quality of studies, the three Canadians found the same pluses and minuses.

Said Segalowitz: "There's less choice of subject within a given course, less flexibility than we have. And there's more learning by rote."

Teaching quality, too, varied, Miss Sager found her instruction generally good. Her course adviser, for instance, "is so

HONOR GRADUATE

PFC Samuel L. Brooks

PFC Samuel L. Brooks of Griggsville, was graduated June 2 from the U.S. army southeastern signal school at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Brooks was awarded the honor graduate diploma for his outstanding achievement during his 25 week course in teletypewriter equipment repair.

PFC Brooks is presently stationed at Vaihingen, Germany near Stuttgart, Germany.

Brooks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brooks of Perry, Ill. and his wife, Sharyn and daughter are living in Griggsville. Mrs. Brooks is presently employed at Illini hospital in Pittsfield as a laboratory technician and hopes to join her husband after the first of the year.

knowledgeable about contemporary Western literature that I'm almost ashamed to discuss it with him."

All three are returning to Canada. Miss Sager will spend a year at the University of British Columbia working on her thesis. Cioran has a teaching post at the University of Toronto, and Segalowitz picks up his studies at McGill.

Ever had a rainstorm in your basement?

Well, dampness in the air can do the same kind of damage!

A damp basement can be one of your home's biggest bugaboos... causing furniture and sporting goods to warp... shop tools and other metal objects to rust... leather goods and fabrics to mold and mildew. A dehumidifier safeguards your possessions by removing gallons of destructive moisture from the air. We'd like you to try this compact, portable dehumidifier in your home for 5 days without obligation—free. It's the best protective covering you can give your basement valuables. Simply ask at Illinois Power.

DeMolays Plan Installation At White Hall

WHITE HALL — Members of Eli Chapter DeMolay will hold installation services Sunday, July 30, at the Masonic Hall in White Hall, at which time Paul Nell will be installed as master counselor.

Installing officers will be Wayne Crossman, master counselor; George Vinyard, senior counselor; Jerry Downs, junior counselor; Steve Camp, chaplain. Steve McLamar, marshal and Ronald Cunningham, standard bearer, all officers being former master counselors. Members of the Rainbow Chapter will serve as escorts for the ceremony.

Mrs. Donna Nash will be soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Crossman at the piano. Following the installation, the chapter sweetheart will be crowned. The candidates are Denise Jennings, Janis Chumley, Shirley Hannafor, and Becky Jennings.

Other Eli officers in addition to the master counselor to be installed are: Larry Ballard, senior counselor; Stanley Ivers, junior counselor; Neal Nichols, senior deacon; Bill Settles, junior deacon; Gordon Cotter, senior steward; Jim Rochester, junior steward; Dave Beem, orator; William Strang, scribe; John C. Neece, treasurer; Kenyon Cotter, sentinel; Steve Rabe, Chaplain.

Clay James, marshal; Mark Strang, standard bearer; Steve McCaherty, almoner; Preceptors: Phil Andras, John McQuillan, Phillip McQuillan, Eric Neece, Harold Kirchner, Bob Cunningham, Roger Strang; musician, Ken Akers. The guest speaker will be John C. Watson, director of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education.

A reception will follow the ceremonies with refreshments served by the Mothers' Auxiliary. The public is welcome.

Robot Chemist Coming to Passavant

MORRIS PLAINS, N.J.—Mrs. Phyllis J. Lee, of Warner-Chilcote Laboratories, developers of the Robot Chemist. The training program was part of the overall procedure designed to fully familiarize prospective Robot Chemist operators with all phases of the machine's operation and maintenance. Mrs. Lee and Dr. Kooker will assist in training other Passavant Memorial personnel in operation of the Robot when it is installed in the institution in the near future. The machine, developed by Warner-Chilcote over a six-year period, is capable of performing as many as 120 wet chemical assays per hour, a rate far exceeding what can be handled manually by a technologist.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED FOR WEEK

Marriage licenses issued during the past week from the office of the county clerk were: Forrest C. Mills of Route 1, Pittsfield and Beulah E. Hill of 817 Freedman; Russell L. Davis of Anna and Edith A. Sheppard of 760 W. Douglas; James William Cox of 261 North Main and Carol Jeanne Chute of Manchester; Lawrence M. Quigley of 831 Freedman and Meredith E. Cox of 1439 West Walnut; Dick Monroe Brockhouse of Winchester and Barbara Jean Lahey of Bluffs; Marvin Carl Barrett and Kaye Lorraine Flynn, both of Route 2, Waverly.

DIVORCES GRANTED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Circuit Judge Clem Smith awarded final decrees for divorce in three cases handled last week: Mary Margaret Moore vs. Johnnie W. L. Moore on ground of cruelty; N. E. Strowmatt vs. Barbara J. Strowmatt on grounds of desertion; and Myrtle Evelyn Dunlevy vs. Bryan Andrew Dunlevy on grounds of cruelty.

The quotation, "An honest man's the noblest work of God," is from Alexander Pope's "Essay on Man."

Lemons, Limes Plentiful

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Can you give me an idea of what foods will be the best buys in August?
 A—According to U.S. Dept. of Agriculture reports there will be lots of turkeys in the market at reasonable prices. Production is up from last year.
 Here's more good hot weather news. The supply of lemons and limes is running larger than last year too. They should be better priced. Enjoy them in desserts, tall drinks and as garnish with salads and fish and seafood dishes.
 Incidentally, frozen fish fillets and steaks will be in large supply and reasonably priced.
 Q—How can I keep frozen foods cold on the way from market to home?
 A—In the first place, make absolutely certain they are solidly frozen when you buy them. Then, at checkout counter, ask the clerk to pack the meat and poultry and other refrigerated and frozen items together. This will keep them all cooler as you hasten home.
 Owls and other night birds have very large eyes to aid them to see in twilight or moonlight, but they can also see by day.

This Career Serviceman Really Did See The World

By VIRGIL REITHER

BEARDSTOWN—The blandishments held out by the various branches of the United States services to attract recruits for careers developed into actualities for Lt. Colonel Karl Pearson, son-in-law of Mrs. Pearl Ford of Beardstown.

Pearson, a native of Nebo in Pike County who has been in the United States Air Force 26 years, having entered as a private and progressed through service schools and assignments in Panama, China, Japan, Hawaii and many American air bases, is now back in the states and will serve his remaining two years before retirement in Idaho.

Idaho Next

Colonel Pearson and his wife, the former Helen Ford, who graduated from high school here in 1938, have been visiting at the Ford home. Two of their four children have been with them here. The family left by car Sunday for Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho, where Colonel Pearson is to be base director of personnel.

After graduating from Officers Candidate school in Miami, Pearson was assigned Panamanian duty and also served at Galapagos Island as a fighter interceptor officer and spent additional time in Louisiana and Texas with the Flying Training Command as a squadron commander.

With Railroad

He then left the service and lived in Chicago where he was in the employ of the CB&Q railroad company until recalled in 1946.

There followed two and a half years in Japan at Kobe and Ashiya Air Base where he received a commission as a captain in the regular army in 1947.

Mrs. Pearson was with her husband on this assignment and their sons, Richard and Ronald, attended nursery schools in Japan.

The family came back to the states in 1949 and Pearson acted as executive for the wing commander at the air base in Rapid City, S. Dakota, Ellsworth AFB there was named for the commander who was killed in a plane crash during Pearson's tour at the base. One of the Pearson children is named Ellsworth for the commander.

As personnel staff officer, Pearson, then a major, spent a year at Fort Worth AFB and in 1955 moved to Westover AFB, Mass.

Aide To Chiang

One of his most exciting assignments followed in Taiwan where he acted as an advisor for Chiang Kai-Shek's budding air force, then preparing to make an effort to get back to the mainland. The family was not along on this six months tour, but accompanied Pearson when he went to the Air Force Command and Staff College in Montgomery, Ala., where he graduated in 1958.

Having achieved the rank of lieutenant colonel, he served four years at the Pentagon in intelligence, and the family lived at Falls Church, Va.

Speaks Japanese

It was in Monterey, California, that he attended the Army Language School, attending daily classes to learn to speak and write in Japanese, graduating in 1963 and returning to Washington for a course in special work to fit him for assignment to the American Embassy in Tokyo where he and his family lived for a year and a half from June of 1964.

Since they lived just about as the Japanese lived, Mrs. Pearson said that she had to learn to speak Japanese although she disclaims any expertise—"just enough to get along, do the shopping and see that I wasn't short changed," she said.

The Pearsons left Japan for duty in Honolulu in 1965 where Col. Pearson was with the Pacific Air Force as personnel staff officer.

"Our principal job there," he said, "was helping in the Vietnam affair."

Family Scattered

The Pearson sons are Richard Ford, who is 23, living at San Jose, California; Ronald Lee, 21, who is married but now serving in Vietnam; Douglas, 17, who graduated from high school in Honolulu, and Dale, who is 10. Douglas will attend Boise College when the family gets settled in Idaho and Dale is looking forward to spending more than one term in a single school for a change.

In the first years of his schooling, Dale had nursery school and first grade work in Virginia and California, second grade in Japan and third grade in Honolulu.

The Pearsons are looking forward to a "good tour" in Idaho as they all are a bit tired of traveling. However, they did appreciate the shift from air to sea travel when they came home from Honolulu, making the trip in the luxury liner Lurline in four and a half days, instead of jetting home in five hours.

Ginger, their French poodle, obtained in Hawaii, will make the Idaho trip, too—in the car shipped from Honolulu.

Sielschott Reunion Held

The annual Sielschott reunion was held July 16 in the dining hall at Nichols Park. Grace was offered by Oliver Meyer. Thirty six family members and two guests were present.

The president, Mrs. Gerald Sielschott, conducted the business meeting. Officers elected for the coming year were: Delbert Sielschott, president and William Earl Sielschott, secretary-treasurer.

The 1968 reunion will be held on the third Sunday in July at Nichols Park.

Recorded was one death, that of Mrs. Myrta Sielschott.

Mrs. Lydia Balke was honored as the oldest member present and Stuart Sielschott was the youngest.

Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Sielschott and Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shoemaker and Melinda, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kramer and David of Kibbourne, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sielschott of Easton, Mr. and Mrs. William Sielschott and Sheryl, Mr. and Mrs. William Earl Sielschott and William Lloyd and Mrs. Alva Coalney, all of Lithfield; Mrs. Kathryn Samples of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Meyer, Wilbur Meyer and Melanie of Beardstown; Mrs. Lydia Balke and Frieda, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawless, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Balke, Mrs. Francis Summers, Mrs. Amelia Baird, and Mrs. Mary Copley, all of Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Westermeyer and Kenneth and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Westermeyer and Gary of Bluffs.

APPOINT AGENT FOR CASS AREA

CHANDLERVILLE—State Farm Insurance Companies have announced the appointment of Richard A. Clark as agent for Beardstown, Chandlerville and Virginia areas. His office will be located at 122 1/2 South State street, Beardstown.

Clark and his wife, Sharon, reside on route two Beardstown. He is a graduate of Chandlerville High School and received his B.S. in education from Western Illinois University in 1960 with a major in physical education and a minor in English. He has taught for the past seven years at Petersburg, serving as junior high principal last year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Clark of Chandlerville.

Andrew Johnson served in the U.S. Senate after leaving the White House.

At The Sheep Show

Gale Cole, young Palmyra farmer and extensive livestock producer who scored well in 4-H and F.F.A. contests himself just a few years ago when he lived near Greenfield, scored again Friday when he judged the sheep show at the fairgrounds.

He made a big hit with the young exhibitors for his tactful way of correcting their errors and for his explanations of what was just right — and wrong — with their entries.

But some of them, about half, thought he got tangled up when awarded the Kiwanis showmanship award to Ronnie Petefish, 13, of the Berea 4-H club. They claimed he was looking at Donnie Petefish, 13, at the time, and just got mixed up because he couldn't tell one of the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Petefish of the Berea community from the other as they showed their Suffolk sheep.

Could be. But the other half of the kids who ought to know said Ronnie won, and Donnie agreed with them. The officials wouldn't have bet on it, but they were sure the judge was right.

So the picture shows Miss Renee Davis, Miss Morgan County Fair, presenting the trophy to Ronnie.

Some of the classes in Friday's show were light, and some had more than enough competition. This was particularly true in the Suffolk and the Hampshire classes. The Williams of Chapin, John, Bob and Janet, dominated the Hampshire show; Jeff Handy and the Petefish twins led with their Suffolks, as did Gordon Brown of Waverly in the Cheviot show.

There wasn't much excitement in the Southdown or Oxford classes, and Janet Williams had everything her own way in the Shropshire show. She brought seven Shropshires to the fair, and it turned out they were the only ones there, so she copped everything.

The happiest exhibitor of the day was Jan Freeman, 10, who won a deluxe piece of silver for showing the best market lamb, a Suffolk weighing 115 pounds, the first time she competed in the fair. She is a member of the Murrayville Kings & Queen 4-H club and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Freeman of Murrayville.

Her brother, Jon, won quite a few prizes in the sheep show, too, and their names may be tangled up considerably in the results of the sheep show scheduled to appear in the paper Sunday.

Hold Services For Ralph May

Everyone is eligible to register for a free subscription and is urged to place entries in the big pink barrel at the Journal-Courier fair booth. Ten winners will be named each day.

Winners receive free subscriptions to either the Journal or Courier, for three months by mail or for eight weeks if delivered to the home.

In addition to giving name and address, entrants are asked to answer all questions on the registration blank.

The names of Friday's winners were drawn by Roger Warnke, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Warnke of Beardstown.

Conduct Rites For Prominent Native Of Pike

PITTSFIELD — Funeral services for Dr. Sidney Strauss, 85, formerly of Pittsfield, and a well-known heart specialist of Chicago, were held Monday, July 24, in the Oak Ridge cemetery in Springfield.

Dr. Strauss died in Michael Reese hospital, Chicago, Friday, July 21. He had been on the hospital staff longer than any other member.

He was born in 1882 in Pittsfield and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Strauss. He attended Pittsfield schools, graduated from Harvard University and studied in Vienna, Austria. His father was one of the founders of the Strauss Bros. store, established in 1865, now owned by Al Wuellner.

Dr. Strauss, the last of the Strauss brothers, is survived by a niece, Mrs. Agnes Wolfe of McLean, Virginia. Paul Weil of Pittsfield is a distant cousin. Dr. Strauss was a cousin of the late William (Willie) Strauss who died February 27, 1967, in Pittsfield.

When the old Strauss residence on West Washington street was donated to Pittsfield in 1948 for a community center, Dr. Strauss also contributed $10,000 toward adapting the house as a civic center, and has continued to donate generously each year for the upkeep of the present Pittsfield Community Center.

People of Retired Age Enjoy First Meeting

The first meeting of the People of Retired Age (PORA) Center was held Thursday afternoon at the Sherwood Eddy Memorial Y.M.C.A. It was decided to attend the Cardinal-Cub baseball game on Tuesday night, Aug. 15, and later in the month the Mundy Opera production of "The King and I," Tuesday night, Aug. 29. A bus will be chartered for each trip and the cost to each person will be $5.00 for ticket and transportation. These trips are open to all persons of retired age, but reservations must be made with Jerry Clardy, acting director of the PORA Center by August 10 for the baseball game and by August 24 for the Opera.

Regular meetings of the PORA Center will be held every Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Y.M.C.A. Guest speakers, entertainment and refreshments will be regular features of each meeting. However, as soon as interest indicates, programs will be held on other days at other times, as it is the purpose of the PORA Center to operate whenever the people desire.

Roadhouse And White Hall Jr.'s To Meet In Homes

ROODHOUSE — The Roodhouse - White Hall Junior Woman's Club held a summer board meeting on Thursday, July 20th at the home of Mrs. James Vinyard.

Mrs. Joe Conrad, president of the club, conducted the meeting. The District Board meeting July 25th at Jerseyville was announced at this time.

It was decided to have all meetings for the coming year in the homes of the members. There was some discussion on ways and means projects and community improvements for the coming year.

Newly appointed committee chairmen then appointed co-workers and a program schedule was planned. Mrs. Ray Mayfield, social chairman, discussed plans for a progressive dinner which is tentatively planned for early September.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Pinson HR In Tenth Tips Cubs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Vada Pinson smacked a two-run homer in the 10th inning Saturday, lifting the Cincinnati Reds past the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

The victory was only the third for the Reds in their last nine games.

With one out in the 10th, Pete Rose drew a walk from rookie Bill Stoneman, the third Chicago pitcher, and Pinson followed with his ninth homer—a shot into the right field bleachers.

Ted Abernathy, who pitched the 10th in relief of Milt Pappas, registered his fourth victory against three losses while Stoneman was the loser in his first major league decision.

The Cubs knotted the score when Ron Santo smashed his 21st homer in the fourth with the bases empty.

Tommy Harper's solo homer had given the Reds a 2-1 edge in the third.

Illinois Horses Win Three Of Four

Illinois-owned horses captured three of the four races in the Morgan County Fair harness horse race program Saturday afternoon. Area horses turned in a pair of seconds.

The best time of the afternoon, on a rain-slowed track, was turned by Dusty Broom, owned by Betty L. and J. Travis Green of Quincy and driven by J. Van Ausdall, which clocked a 2:13.6 in winning the second heat of a trot for non-winners.

Roof And Green Carry KC To 6-2 Edge Over Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Roof's two-run homer in the seventh inning and Dick Green's two-run triple in the ninth carried the Kansas City Athletics to a 6-2 victory over the New York Yankees Saturday.

The victory listed the last-place Athletics within one-half game of the Yankees in the American League cellar struggle.

Roof hit a 3-2 pitch from reliever Steve Hamilton into the lower left field seats with two out in the seventh, erasing a 2-1 New York lead.

Fritz Peterson, the Yanks' starter, doubled across the go-ahead run in the sixth but was lifted in the seventh after a leadoff single by Ken Harrelson, who had four of the Athletics' 12 hits.

Rookie Tony Pierce, working in relief of Jim Nash, stopped the Yankees over the last three innings and squared his record at 1-1.

Giants Notch 6-1 Edge Over Phils Behind Haller

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tom Haller homered and scored three runs and Gaylord Perry scattered six hits Saturday as the San Francisco Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 6-1.

Haller, who belted a double and triple in his last two at bats against the Phillies Friday night, continued his hot hitting with a second inning homer off loser Jim Bunning, 10-9, who had never been beaten at Candlestick Park.

The Giants' catcher also walked and scored in a two-run fourth inning rally and ignited a two-run sixth inning uprising with a leadoff single.

Perry, 7-12, allowed more than one hit in only the third inning, when Bunning's double and a two-out single by Johnny Callison scored the Phils' run.

Doubles by Jim Hart and Bob Etheridge plus Tito Fuentes' sacrifice fly keyed the Giants' fourth inning rally.

Perry's squeeze bunt and Jesus Alou's single drove in the two sixth inning runs. Willie Mays singled and eventually scored on a passed ball in the seventh.

Three Home Runs Support Carlton

ATLANTA (AP) — Tim McCarver, Orlando Cepeda and Roger Maris crashed homers and St. Louis rolled over Atlanta 6-0 Saturday night, increasing its National League lead to three games.

Steve Carlton, 9-6, got the victory, but needed relief help from Joe Hoerner in the ninth.

Carlton had a three-hitter entering the ninth, but left when the first two hitters singled. Hoerner walked the next man, but then got three straight hits to preserve the shutout.

The Cardinals won their fourth straight to increase their lead over Chicago, which lost to Cincinnati.

Colavito Traded To White Sox

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Colavito was traded by Cleveland to the Chicago White Sox Saturday for outfielder Jim King, a player to be named after the season and cash.

Colavito said he wasn't surprised at being traded since he hadn't been playing much lately.

"I hate to leave the guys here," he said, "but I think I'll get a better chance to play in Chicago and, well, they're in first place and I always have had a lot of respect for Eddie Stanky."

The deal was announced immediately after Baltimore beat the Indians 5-3 and Chicago stopped Detroit 4-3.

Colavito, a right-handed batter in his 12th major league season, expressed dissatisfaction earlier this year at being platooned. He wrote a controversial letter to a Cleveland newspaper at the time, expressing a desire to be traded.

This is the second time the Indians have traded the slugger outfielder, who broke in with them in 1956. Frank Lane, then Cleveland general manager, traded him to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn in 1960.

He spent four years at Detroit before going to Kansas City for a season and then returning to Cleveland in 1965.

Colavito, who will be 34 in August, has been one of the American League's top hitters since coming into the league. His best year was 1961 when he hit .290 with 140 runs batted in and 45 homers. He has hit 363 homers in his career with a career average of about .270.

However, he hit only .238 with the Indians last year with 30 homers and 72 RBI and is struggling with a .241 average, five homers and 21 RBI in 61 games this season.

King, who will be 35 in August, was the last of the original expansion players drafted by Washington in 1960 and spent six years with the Senators before he was traded to Chicago last June 17 for Ed Stroud. He was hitting .180 with one homer and 14 RBI in 69 games entering Saturday's game.

City Power Here For Pair Today

Jacksonville City Power will make its second home appearance of the season this afternoon when the locals entertain Pana in a Little Eight League doubleheader, starting at 1:30.

City Power, rained out of two previous home dates, holds a 1-7 league mark, with its only victory being over Pana, 8-0 in the Little Eight.

Rich Coble and Gib Keller are listed as probable pitching starters for Jacksonville.

Both games will be seven-inning affairs.

Ferrara's Homer In Ninth Sparks 2-1 Dodger Edge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Al Ferrara cracked a two-out tie-breaking homer in the ninth inning, boosting the Los Angeles to a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets Saturday.

Ferrara's homer, his 11th this season and fourth off the Mets, landed in the left field seats and broke up a duel between winner Bill Singer, 6-4, and Bob Hendley, 5-2, while bringing the Dodgers their 10th straight triumph over New York at home.

Ferrara also drove in the other Dodger run in the first inning with a bloop double to right field after Bob Bailey singled with two out.

After missing several chances, the Mets tied the count in the seventh inning when Bud Harrelson walked, reached third on Cleon Jones' hit and scored on a sacrifice fly by Ed Charles.

Ferrara's homer was only the fifth hit for the Dodgers. Singer, who struck out nine, gave up eight hits as Los Angeles won its fifth game in six outings.

Five-Run Second Lifts Baltimore To 5-3 Triumph

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luis Aparicio climaxed a five-run second inning with a two-run homer that carried Baltimore to a 5-3 victory over Cleveland Saturday.

Mark Belanger singled home the first two runs of the inning after the Orioles loaded the bases on hits by Paul Blair and Boog Powell and a walk.

Winner Jim Hardin hit a sacrifice fly before Aparicio touched John O'Donoghue, 5-4, for his second homer of the season.

Max Alvis hit an inside-the-park homer with a man on in the third for Cleveland when Baltimore centerfielder Blair tried to make a shoestring catch and the liner got past him.

Tony Horton singled home the other Indian run in the fifth.

LESSER LIGHTS WANT TO HELP

Two of the lesser lights on the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals are among the proudest of the lot to be on the team.

For young Bobby Tolan this year is one thrill after another, and for just-acquired reliever Jack Lamabe it represents going from the bottom to the top in the National League.

Neither player would trade spots with anyone else in the league right now, and each has as the utmost thought in his mind right now helping the Cardinals win the NL pennant.

EARLY ARRIVALS at Busch Stadium will quite often see Tolan, playing his first full year in the majors, sitting in the Cardinal dugout following batting practice, while most of his teammates are in the clubhouse relaxing the final 45 or so minutes before the game.

"It's such a thrill playing big league baseball, and watching these guys play, I could just sit here every night," commented the likeable Tolan before a recent game with the Chicago Cubs.

"Of course, playing regularly this year, or lately at least, is an added thrill. I am continually learning something, often just by watching the other players. But, you have to try to play regularly, there isn't any money sitting on the bench."

THE JUST turned 21-year-old for whom a brilliant career has been forecast by most of his teammates, has been shuttled between right and centerfield and first base. "I prefer centerfield in the outfield," says Tolan, who looks even younger than his years. "I can pick up the ball much better there, and I have more room to work. I like first base best of all, but with Orlando here, you know how that goes."

Coming to the big time shortly out of high school, Tolan says the size of the crowds in the majors did bother him for awhile. "Not being used to crowds like these, I was sort of nervous for a few games. Then last year I started in right field when there were 20,000 in the stands. After the game started, I forgot about the crowd and have gotten used to it since."

TOLAN STARTED the season in a part-time role in the outfield and got off to a flying start. Since Curt Flood's injury Tolan has been used as a regular and his batting average has taken a dip. "I can tell you why," says the grinning Tolan, "the pitchers are throwing me curve balls. The word got around the league that I was a fastball hitter, and about all I get now are the curves. Luckily, they have to give me a fastball now and then to keep me honest, and I like to wait for them. I'm not worried about the curves, I don't see any reason why I can't work on that part of my hitting and pick it up."

Asked about his speed, for which he is known, Tolan quips, "I'm not embarrassed by it, but I don't think I am a real base-stealing threat. Last year when I would get thrown out or picked off, it was usually because I had been given the steal sign and was worried about getting a good jump."

"I AM ON my own on the bases now, I think everyone is. I know Brock, Flood and myself are. I have picked up a lot on base-running from Brock. I guess I am third fastest on the team, behind Brock and Alex Johnson. All I played in high school was basketball and baseball, and was used to running short distances. I don't think I have ever been timed for 100 yards. I would just be guessing, but I imagine Brock could run the 100 in .09.5."

THE 30-YEAR-OLD Lamabe, who has been with several teams in a major league career that has brought him anything but stardom, just wants to do something to help the Cardinals, who picked him up from the Mets two weeks ago.

"It was something of a shock when I first learned of the deal," said Lamabe while sipping on a Coke after a recent game. "I was starting to put on my Met uniform, then walked down the hall to the Cardinals' clubhouse and changed again."

"Naturally I was quite pleased going from the Mets to a team like this, fighting for the pennant. This St. Louis team has more spirit and desire than any club I have ever been on. They are a tremendous bunch of guys. I only want to do something to help."

ONE PROBLEM caused by the trade was Lamabe's family, living in New York. "My wife is due to have a baby Aug. 3 and has already been to three doctors. I told her to stay there for now. This moving is one of the worst parts of major league life, but you don't catch me complaining. I love it and want to stay here as long as they will have me."

Lamabe, who lost his first three decisions for the Cards for a 0-6 overall record, can't understand it. "I have never been hit as hard as I have been since coming to the Cardinals. I know I am a better pitcher than I have shown. I seem to have good stuff, but just haven't been getting any breaks."

Surging Astros Again Rally To Edge Pirates 6-5

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Aspromonte's two-run double and a run-scoring single by Bob Lillis in the eighth inning gave the resurgent Houston Astros a 6-5 come-from-behind victory over Pittsburgh's sagging Pirates Saturday.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Astros and the third loss in a row for the Pirates, who have dropped five of their last six starts.

The Astros trailed 5-3 in the eighth when Ron Davis led off with a single against reliever Al McBean. Juan Pizarro replaced McBean and was tagged for a single by Rusty Staub before getting Ed Mathews to force Davis at third.

Aspromonte, who had driven in two runs with a sixth inning single, then doubled off the left center field fence, scoring Staub and Mathews to tie the game 5-5.

Roy Face came in to pitch and walked John Bateman intentionally before Lillis' single to center delivered the winning run.

A guy goes away a couple of weeks and everything turns unreal. The Chicago Cubs and the Boston Red Sox—now there's a weird parlay of pennant threats. And pro football players slaving at a time when everybody ought to be out by the swimming pool.

Much more vivid here is a kaleidoscope of travel impressions, mixing work and vacation. It may not be sport, but it comes under the heading of relaxation.

The memory medley starts at Elsinore, north of Copenhagen, where Kronborg castle perpetuates the ghost of Hamlet delivering his soliloquy . . . and you can ponder the melancholy Dane while munching on smorrebroed at the Hotel Hamlet across the moat. It proceeds into merry Copenhagen and the colorful waterfront area called New Haven, which revels in a tradition of rollings drunken Swedes. After dark, the place to be is Tivoli gardens, where you can get everything from Scandinavian rock'n'rollers to the Andrews sisters to schmaltzy waltzes.

The place that really swings, though, is England, where time doesn't count. Instead of a late evening snack, you drop a $20 bill at the blackjack tables in George Raft's Colony Club. George doesn't pocket any of it—he doesn't work there any more.

The "in place is King's Road in Chelsea. Except for the mod dress and the way they've got the hair styles switched on the boys and girls, it could just as easily be a street in Boston. You walk along and bump into Frank Litsky, writing European sports for the New York Times.

There's a vibrancy about the English that makes a walk around Piccadilly Circus in the evening an exercise in excitement—even if half the people around you are Americans.

Incomparable is the British countryside on a sunny Sunday afternoon. Incomparable, too, is the traffic on the narrow roads that weave across and around the long curves of the River Thames.

A quick jump across the ocean, and there's another world at Provincetown on Cape Cod, where sun, sand and surf dominate the scene, and even the beatniks have a hard time getting noticed. It's sailor's paradise off an old fishing village that goes honky-tonk in the crush of summer visitors.

So get in the car and drive north through the White Mountains in New Hampshire, where verdant slopes carry the scars of civilization—an aerial tramway and tree-cleared plunges that accommodate the skiing crowd in the winter.

Over the border into Quebec, and you're back in crowded country again. All signs point to Expo 67. Montreal is a study in humanity. Trying to get on the metro (subway) compares to gaining ground against the Green Bay Packers.

Three days at Expo 67 will harden your feet, if not your soul. It beats the World's Fair in New York for majestic set.

IC Coach

Donald A. Gustine has been appointed Instructor in Physical Education at Illinois College, according to an announcement by President L. Vernon Caine. Gustine will be head coach in track and swimming and will be an assistant coach in football; he will teach courses in the Physical Education Department.

He holds the B.S. degree from Western Illinois University, and is completing work on the M.S. degree.

He is a veteran of the U.S. Army. He has been teaching since 1957 and has been head football and track coach at Greenfield High School, from which he was graduated in 1949.

He is a member of professional and community service organizations and the Methodist Church.

He is married and has three daughters. They will live at 607 Coronado in Jacksonville.

Stefanich Jumps To Bowling Lead

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill., the Firestone Tournament of Champions winner, jumped from 10th place to first Saturday in the Professional Bowlers Association's $27,500 Fort Smith Open.

Stefanich overtook Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., the second-round leader, by rolling the big six-game block of the tournament — a 1,412 that brought his 18-game total to 3,967.

Joseph slipped to second with a 3,924.

Stefanich currently is the number three man of the list of leading money winners with $29,825 to his credit this year. Should he win this tournament, he would overtake Dave Davis of Phoenix, Ariz., as the leading money winner.

The 96-man field was cut to 48 after the third round. The remaining 48 were to go six games Saturday night, with the top 16 then moving into Sunday's match game finals. The winner will collect $3,000.

Vic Washington of Wyoming led the nation in punt returns last season, taking 34 punts 443 yards for a 13-yard average.

DANNY MURTAUGH is back as interim manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. He had to trade his executive chair in the Pirate front office for the baseball flannels when the Bucs fired Harry Walker. Danny seems to be enjoying the change.

Boyer's Home Run Aids Chisox, 4-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Ken Boyer's first American League homer—a two-run blast in the first inning—and Don McMahon's clutch relief pitching in the ninth led the first-place Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

Boyer, acquired from the New York Mets a week ago, homered into the lower left field stands in the first inning after pitcher Joe Sparma walked Walt Williams.

McMahon replaced Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth with one runner in, runners on first and third and none out, and worked out of the jam by striking out Bill Freehan and getting Norm Cash and Mickey Stanley on fly balls.

Wilhelm had come on in the sixth after the Tigers knocked out winner Wilbur Wood with a two-run salvo that cut Chicago's lead to 4-2. The 44-year-old relief specialist stranded two runners in the sixth and two more in both the seventh and eighth.

The Tigers, however, closed the gap in the ninth on singles by Dick McAuliffe, Al Kaline and Willie Horton. McMahon then slammed the door, preserving Wood's third victory without a loss.

Only one-half length separated Queen of the Stage, carrying the black silks of Ogden Phipps, from Cockey, Miss., representing Barbara Gordon, as the pair hit the wire at the end of the six furlongs.

It was just another short nose back to Gat Matelda from the Meadow Stable of C. T. Chenery. Six lengths farther back in fourth place came Wiggins with Syrian Sea, stablemate of Gay Matelda, fifth, Owe Everything sixth and Munster Blend last.

Braulie Baeza took Queen of the Stage to the front soon after the start but the daughter of Bold Ruler-Broadway never was able to open up a wide advantage as she had in her previous efforts.

For winning the richest race of her short career, Queen of the Stage earned $103,650. Her bankroll going into the Sorority was $27,917, mostly from a six-length victory in the Astoria Stakes at Aqueduct. In her two races before the Astoria, she scored by seven and nine lengths.

Usually a slow starter, Straight Deal came out of the gate in the first flight behind Lady Diplomat and Swinging Mood, who set the pace before fading as the pack swung out of the back stretch.

Ussery urged Straight Deal under tight hand whipping as he left Miss Spin who was moving with him and set her down after the leaders.

Straight Deal, who paid $7.20, $4.60 and $3.20 to her backers in the crowd of 20,500, circled the front three coming around the turn, and when the field straightened in the stretch she was on top and going away. The battle over the final quarter was for the place and show.

The Tri-County Boys Pony League tournament will start Tuesday and finish Friday at Arenzville.

Two games will be held each evening, at 7:00 and 9:00. First-night pairings pit Franklin against Winchester and Bluffs vs Waverly. On Wednesday night Chapin takes on Murrayville and Meradosia meets Arenzville.

The semi-finals will be held Thursday and the finals Friday.

Strikeouts — M. 'hal, S.F., 158; Bunning, Phil., 151.

Howard's Bat Lifts Senators To 3-2 Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Howard, who hit his 27th homer in the first inning, singled home the tie breaking run in the seventh, vaulting Washington over California 3-2 Saturday in the Senators' fourth straight victory and 16th in 21 games.

The loss was the fourth straight for California.

Hank Allen opened the seventh with a double off Minnie Rojas, 7-7, and one out later, Howard singled for the winning run.

Howard homered in the first off Fred Newman, but California took the lead on two walks and Bobby Knapp's run-scoring single in the second and Jimmy Hall's pinch-hit homer, his 13th, in the sixth.

Casey Cox, 4-1, the third of five Washington pitchers, got the victory for 1-3 scoreless innings of relief.

OP ARCHERY TITLE
AMERSFOORT, Netherlands (AP) — Ray Rogers of Muskogee, Okla., won the individual championship and led the United States men to the team title in the world archery championships Friday.

Rogers finished the 286-arrow shoot with 2,298 points, 15 better than J. I. Dixon of Britain. Hardy Ward of Mount Pleasant, Tex., was third with 2,282.

The U.S. men completed the tournament with 6,816 points followed by Sweden with 6,722.

Poland swept the women's titles, outshooting the U.S. girls 6,686 to 6,455 in team competition.

Polish women, led by Maria Maczynska, won the first three places.

The coming season is the end for Big Ten football.

Matson Sets Shot Mark In Pan-Am

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — Led by record breaking performances by Randy Matson and Van Nelson in the first day of track and field, the United States garnered seven more gold medals Saturday at the Pan-American Games to run its amazing total to 44.

The only man under six feet is Floyd Little, the 5-11 halfback from Syracuse, who smashed the collegiate marks set by Jimmy Brown and the late Ernie Davis.

Of Little Value
Names and past performances, however, are of little value once the collegians face the pros in hand-to-hand combat.

The All-Stars' most important chore will be to stop Green Bay's complex passing game directed by quarterback Bart Starr.

The best lay to stop Starr is with a rush but Green Bay boasts one of the best lines on offense in the program and chances are the All-Stars will have little opportunity to get to Starr.

The only other alternative is a quick, hard-hitting defensive backfield. Here the All-Stars will have such standouts as Rich Volk of Michigan, Phil Clark of Northwestern, John Charles of Purdue, Curg Belcher of Brigham Young, Henry King of Utah State, Bob Jones of San Diego State and Jim Burris of Houston.

On offense, Eddy, Jones, Little and Ray McDonald of Idaho supremacy.

Jose Fiolo of Brazil led qualifiers in the men's 200-meter breaststroke with a time of 2:33.4 which broke the Pan-American Games record of 2:35.4 set by famed Czech Jastremski of the United States in 1963.

On Way to 3rd
Canada's mighty mouse, Elaine Tanner, started on her way to her third gold medal—both previous ones in the two butterfly races have also been world records—by leading qualifiers in the women's 100-meter butterfly with a time of 1:05.8.

Kenneth Webb of Portland, Ore., with 4:55.9 in the 400-meter individual medley, and the veteran Don Schollander of Saratoga, Calif., with 2:00.0 in the 200-meter freestyle, posted the best times in the qualifications and looked like eventual winners.

One of the chief threats to American sprinting medals, Enrique Figueroa of Cuba, dropped out of the first heat of the 100-meter dash with a pulled muscle. He was the defending champion and has a mark of 10.0 up for recognition as a tie of the world record.

Texas is closest with 10 firsts and 7 seconds in the Southwest. These factors boosted Oklahoma to a record of 189 victories, 62 losses and eight ties for the 25-year span. Michigan State is 156-56-9 and Texas 186-70-6.

Like the Sooners, Michigan State has had only three losing seasons in the last 25 but it is a brilliant 19-1-1 sprint the last two years which has carried the Spartans to No. 2. A 28-game winning streak, 1950-53, didn't hurt, either.

College All-Stars Big, Fast, Strong

CHICAGO (AP) — Big, fast, strong and hopefully capable. That's the description of the 1967 College All-Stars who meet the professional champion Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Friday night in football's 34th annual midsummer classic.

Head Coach Johnny Sauer hand-picked the 51-man squad, which represents 35 colleges and universities, in an effort to wipe out last year's 38-0 defeat at the hands of the same Packers.

The pros lead the series with 22 victories against 9 losses. Twelve games have ended in ties and the last time the All-Stars won was in 1963 when they edged Green Bay 20-17.

An indication of the type of players selected is the fact that every man on the squad has been picked by the pros and 10 of the players made the 1966 Associated Press All American team.

11 From Top 2
There are 11 players from Michigan State and Notre Dame, who finished 1-2 nationally after playing to a 10-10 tie in one of collegiate football's greatest battles.

Notre Dame's contributions include halfback Nick Eddy, end Alan Page, linebacker Jim Lynch, center George Goedecke and lineman Pete Diranko, Tom Regner and Paul Seiler.

Representing Michigan State will be lineman Charles "Bubba" Smith, halfback Clint Jones, linebacker George Webster and end Gene Washington.

Smith, at 6-7 and 285 pounds, is the biggest man on the squad. The only man under six feet is Floyd Little, the 5-11 halfback from Syracuse, who smashed the collegiate marks set by Jimmy Brown and the late Ernie Davis.

all are capable ball carriers. But the saying is that you can't beat the pros by running against them and few can argue with that.

If the All-Stars hope to move on offense it'll have to be through the air on the passes of Bob Griese of Purdue and Steve Spurrier of Florida.

Griese and Spurrier, both of whom are expected to see action, will have the option of throwing to their backs or such accomplished receivers as Jack Clancy of Michigan, Gene Washington of Michigan State, Rod Sherman of Southern Cal. and Harry Jones of Arkansas.

Defensively the All-Stars might take heart in the fact that Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor both will be missing from the Packers lineup for the first time in years.

They'll be replaced by Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski who last year were members of the All-Star squad.

Graham, Wysong Share Lead In Minnesota Golf

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Lou Graham, a 29-year-old from Nashville, Tenn., and Dudley Wysong of McKinney, Tex., wound up in a deadlock for the lead after 54 holes in the $100,000 Minnesota Golf Classic Saturday at Hazeltine National Golf Club.

Graham, who shot the tournament's low round of 58 Friday, was two under par with a 70 Saturday for a 214 total after three rounds. Wysong, who started the day one stroke back, had a one-under 71.

The surge of the two younger players led behind 36-hole leader Julius Boris of Mid Pines, N.C., who slipped to a four-over-par 76 Saturday. Boris dropped into a tie for first place at 218.

Raymond Floyd on St. Andrews, Ill., matched par with a 72 for 216. Dave Stockton shot a two-under 70 for 217.

Tommy Bolt, who started the day one stroke back of Boris, skied to a 79 for 222 to fall seven strokes off the pace.

Floyd was in third place after three rounds, two strokes back of the co-leaders.

Graham shot the best first nine of the tournament with a three-under-par 33, on three birdies and six pars. He birdied the fourth from six feet, the fifth from 12 and the ninth from three feet.

Wysong picked up two shots on the second nine with an eagle and two birdies against a pair of bogies and with four holes to play held a two-shot lead in the tournament.

He got his eagle on the 600-yard, par 5 11th, when he hit a three-wood shot four feet from the pin. He birdies the 12th from three feet and the 14th from 25 feet. But he lost both shots back to Graham with bogies on the 15th and 16th holes.

On the 15th, he hit into a rough and ran into a trap. On the 16th, his tee shot went into the trees.

Boris had nothing but trouble with his irons and putter. He was short with almost every chip shot and failed to down the nuts, going four over par on the first nine and even par on the second.

He had only one birdie, holding a 10-foot putt on the 13th. He three-putted twice on the first nine.

Jones, Kessinger Spark 6-2 Margin

CINCINNATI (AP) — Clarence Jones and Don Kessinger drove in two runs apiece, carrying the Chicago Cubs to a 6-2 victory over the faltering Cincinnati Reds Friday night.

Kessinger started a three-run spree in the third inning with a one-out single. Glenn Beckert followed with another hit and Billy Williams' double sent the first runner across.

After Ron Santo walked and Ernie Banks fouled out, Jones' single to right gave the second-place Cubs a 3-0 lead. They made it 4-0 in the fourth when Ted Savage led off with a single and came all the way home on Pete Rose's bad throw after Ferguson Jenkins' sacrifice.

Kessinger knocked in two runs in the eighth after a walk, Savage's single and another sacrifice by Jenkins, who raised his record to 13-8.

Richard Maack has been named head basketball coach at Triton College. It has an enrollment of 3,000 students and is located in class 1 junior college District 504 in Northlake, Illinois. Coach Maack is a graduate of Collinsville High School, Northeast Missouri State College and Indiana State. He has been high school coaching for eleven years and last year coached basketball at Lockport West high.

Maack formerly coached at West Pike High (Kinderhook), Pittsfield, Paris and Lockport Central high schools. Triton college will operate in West Leyden High School until the new campus in River Grove is completed. Triton will compete in the Northern Illinois Junior college conference.

Hinsdale Central and not DuSable of Chicago will be one of the new teams in the Centralia High Holiday tourney next December. Quincy, Fairfield and Highland will not return for the Centralia tourney this year. Other teams entered are Jacksonville, New Trier West, McLeansboro, Benton, Joliet Central, Metropolis, Edwardsville, Homewood-Flossmoor, Thornton (Harvey), Decatur, Belleville West, Champaign, Salem, York (Elmhurst) and Centralia.

Coach Jack Miller's Waukegan five will defend the title in the Pontiac high Holiday tourney. Waukegan won over Lockport Central 52-49 for the championship last December. Pekin's State champs of 1964 lost to Bloom (Chicago Heights) 61-60 for the championship of the Pontiac tourney and the next season won it by beating Lockport 71-44 in the title game.

Bridgport, Cumberland (Greenup) and Sullivan are three new teams in the Paris Holiday tourney next December. Other schools entered are Robinson, Pana, St. Anne, Mt. Carmel and Paris. Hoopston, St. Mel (Chicago) and Sparta are not returning for the meet this season.

Canton High will play 18 games and compete in two tourneys next season. Coach Rodney Richardson's five will meet Havana, Farmington, Pekin, Peoria Richwoods, Peoria Limestone, Galesburg, Kewanee, Monmouth, Bloom (Chicago Heights), Belvidere, Morton, Eisenhower (Decatur), Griffin (Springfield), Lewis, town, Pontiac and MacArthur (Decatur).

Quincy's four team tourney next December will include DuSable (Chicago), LaSalle-Peru, Pekin and Quincy. Rushville, Harrison (Chicago) and Tuscola will not return to this meet this season. Schools that formerly competed in the Quincy tourneys were DePue, Fulton, Cahokia, Springfield, Canton, Jacksonville, Macomb, Wood River, Peoria Limestone, Rushville, Morris, Schlarman (Danville), Monmouth and Rock Island.

Jacksonville, MacArthur and Eisenhower of Decatur will not play Canton in football this season. Monmouth High is the new team on the chart for Coach Tom Zaborac's Little Giants. Other teams on the schedule include Kewanee, Macomb, Pekin, Galesburg, Lewistown, Peoria Limestone and Farmington.

Benton, Centralia, Herrin and Pinckneyville have won two consecutive Centralia Holiday tourney championships. Other winners include Taylorville, West Frankfort, Kewanee, Robinson, Marion, Tilden Tech (Chicago), Morton (Cicero), Belleville and Decatur. Runners-up include Champaign, Centralia, Pana, Freeport, Lincoln, Quincy, Pinckneyville, Collinsville, Herrin, Alleman (Rock Island), Granite City, Peoria Manual, Benton, Belleville, Mt. Vernon, Thornton (Harvey) and Homewood-Flossmoor.

Coach Vergil Fletcher of Collinsville High is in the process of writing a book. The title is "Fletcher's Collinsville Ball Pressure Defense." He said that the book will outline the development and strategy of his defense coaching. The book will also contain a chapter on his philosophy of basketball gained from his 25 years as a coach.

Bernie Langheim is the new basketball coach at Mt. Olive High and Jerry Sullivan is moving up from assistant to head coach at Mason City High. Gerald Nelson is the new basketball coach at Deer-Creek Mackinaw High school. Bob Hout is stepping up from assistant coach to head basketball coach at Newton High and John Anderson is moving from Brownstown High to Henry High as head basketball coach.

Threat Of Injury Sidelines Hornung

'Golden Boy' To Retire

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The threat of permanent injury sidelined Paul Hornung Friday, closing a glittering playing career for football's "Golden Boy."

PAUL HORNUNG

Jarring body contact of 10 National Football League seasons as a Green Bay Packer halfback caused nerve root damage, medical tests showed.

Hornung said another football-type injury might cause "permanent, detrimental results" to his spinal cord.

The retirement was announced at a news conference by John Mecom, owner of the New Orleans Saints. The new NFL team selected the blond former Heisman Trophy winner in the expansion draft this year.

Hornung said his condition stemmed from a neck injury suffered last year in a game against the Chicago Bears when he ran for a Packer touchdown. "I was falling forward toward the end zone and my neck snapped back when I was hit," he said, unable to identify his tacker.

Doctors advised the three-time All-NFL halfback not to play because "there could be irreparable damage to my spinal cord if I suffer a similar injury," he said.

Hornung underwent examinations in recent months at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.; Scripps Clinic, La Jolla, Calif.; and Baptist Memorial Hospital, Houston, Tex.

Doctors said there was no disc damage and no surgery was required, Hornung said. The former Notre Dame quarterback scored 760 points during his career with the Packers, including 176 in 1960 to set an NFL record and win most valuable player honors. He was a triple threat with his running, passing and kicking skills.

Hornung said he rejected continuing his career as a place kicker, a position relatively free of body contact, because it would be "too hard to remain on the sidelines" between kicks.

Entries Reach 21 For 100-Mile Fair Stock Race

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Although closing date for entries in the Allen Crowe Memorial 100-mile Late Model Stock Race Aug. 20 at the Illinois State Fair is not until midnight Aug. 4, the field this week had reached 21 race officials announced.

United States Auto Club headquarters at Indianapolis reported that last year's field of 27 is certain to be exceeded, since many top USAC drivers of the middle west have been racing at Soldier's Field in Chicago about three nights a month. The late-model stock events have proved most attractive to Chicago-land fans, while drivers from Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois and Ohio have turned out in large numbers.

Many of these drivers are new to the circuit and many are those race fans can expect to see in the future years at Indianapolis. Some of course are already Indy drivers, including Bill Cheesbourg whose entry is among the 21 received by Louis London, who is in charge of the race for the State Fair.

Heading the list is Don White, Keokuk, Iowa, winner here last year who finished second in the point race to Champion Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis. Nelson's entry is in the mail, he reported this week.

Among other top drivers whose entries have been received are Sal Tovella, Chicago, fourth here last year and J. C. Klotz, Fort Wayne, Ind. who was fifth.

Besides Nelson, the entry of Jack Bowsher, Springfield, Ohio is expected. Bowsher, this year, is among the hottest of USAC Late Model Stock car drivers and is in second place in the point race behind White, who has moved in front of the field. Nelson is far back this year, but took his first victory at Soldier's Field three weeks ago.

The Senators scored five times in the seventh inning, McMullen driving in two runs with a single and Howard singling in another. The big Washington left-fielder also drove in a run in the fifth on an infield out.

Ortega gave up two runs in the first inning on a walk, two singles and a double by Jim Fregosi, then stymied the Angels the rest of the way for his eighth victory in 13 decisions.

Cepeda, Hughes Lead 9-1 Triumph

ATLANTA (AP) — Orlando Cepeda drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Dick Hughes hurled a six-hitter, leading the surging St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves Friday night.

Orlando Cepeda

Cepeda hit a bases-empty homer in the third inning and Hughes slammed his 17th homer of the year in the sixth following a single by Curt Flood.

Tim McCarver drilled a single and a two-run double and scored twice as the National League-leading Cardinals rolled to their third straight victory and fifth in six games.

Hughes, 9-3, gave up a run in the third when Denis Menke doubled, took third on pitcher Denny Lemaster's sacrifice bunt and tallied on Felipe Alou's sacrifice fly.

Hughes scattered four singles the rest of the way before a crowd of 41,255-bigger in Atlanta this season.

Dal Maxvill stroked four hits and drove in a pair of runs for the Cardinals.

Cash's Homer Lets Tigers Down Sox 7-4

CHICAGO (AP) — Norm Cash blasted a tie-breaking two-run homer in the sixth inning Friday night, helping Detroit to a 7-4 over the error-ridden Chicago White Sox.

Cash's 13th homer of the year followed a walk by Bill Freehan and nailed Sox southpaw ace Gary Peters with his sixth loss against 12 victories while Earl Wilson picked up his 13th victory against eight losses.

Wilson singled home the game's first run after Mickey Stanley had doubled in the third to give the Tigers a 1-0 lead.

With two out in the bottom of the third, Peters singled and Walt Williams followed with his third homer of the year to give Chicago a 2-1 lead.

Detroit tied it in the fifth without a hit as the Sox committed three errors, two by shortstop Ron Hansen. The Tigers got two more runs in the ninth on a throwing error by Bob Locker and a third on Ray Oyler's double.

Wilson was coasting on a two-hitter going into the eighth but J.C. Martin led off with his fourth homer and Hansen followed with a single to drive Wilson from the mound in favor of Mike Marshall, who ended the threat by fanning Williams and getting pinch batter Smokey Burgess to ground out.

Ray Oyler doubled a run in the ninth.

Staub, Houston Notch 9-3 Romp Over Pirates

HOUSTON (AP) — Rusty Staub, the National League's leading hitter, knocked in four runs with a double and single Friday night, pacing the Houston Astros to a 9-3 romp over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Right-hander Dave Giusti weathered 10 Pirate hits in going the distance for his eighth victory against nine defeats. Tommie Sisk, clipped for four runs in the first inning, was tagged with his eighth loss in 16 decisions.

Jack Brandt's infield single got the Astros started in the first and they loaded the bases on a walk and Sisk's throwing error before Staub doubled two runs across. After an intentional walk to Ed Mathews refilled the bases, Norm Miller's force-play grounder and John Bateman's sacrifice fly each scored a run.

The Astros added three more runs off reliever Billy O'Dell in the second and Staub ripped a two-run single in the sixth. Staub finished the game with a .360 average.

While the Astros were cuffing Sisk in the first inning, the Pirates were roughing each other up in the dugout. It apparently started with pitcher Juan Pizarro slugging rookie catcher Manny Sanguillen and ended with Manny Jimenez hitting Pizarro with a left hook before they were separated by teammates.

Horton's Homer In 12th Inning Nips Orioles 1-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tony Horton's home run in the 12th inning ended a 12-inning pitcher's duel Friday night, giving Cleveland a 1-0 triumph over Baltimore behind Steve Hargan's eight-hit pitching gem.

Gene Brabender blanked the Indians on five hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the ninth inning. Moe Drabowsky came in and set the Indians down until Horton's blast, his fourth homer of the season.

It was Drabowsky's first loss with the Orioles, who he joined last season.

Hargan, 10-8, worked his way out of several jams as the Orioles put men on third in the sixth, eighth and 12th.

PIZZARRO, JIMENEZ FINED FOR FIGHT

HOUSTON (AP) — Pitcher Juan Pizarro and outfielder Manny Jimenez of the Pittsburgh Pirates were fined $150 apiece Friday night for fighting in the dugout during the Pirates' game with the Houston Astros.

Manager Danny Murtaugh imposed the fines on Pizarro and Jimenez, who exchanged blows in the first inning, at a clubhouse meeting following the Pirates' 9-3 loss to the Astros. "It was a spur of the moment affair," said Murtaugh, who replaced Harry Walker as the Pirates' skipper 10 days ago. "I talked to both boys. It was just one of those affairs where they talked to each other and got a little heated."

LEAVES CAMP

DETROIT (AP)—Texan J. D. Smith, who was reluctant to report to the Detroit Lions, walked out of camp and quit Thursday.

Smith, an offensive tackle, reported late after telling the National Football club officials he had to get in the wheat harvest at his farm in Texas. His retirement leaves the Lions minus their two starting offensive tackles from last season. Daryl Sanders retired earlier for business reasons.

The Fair

By Sondra Hannel

I remember the fair when I was a child—
A great and magical sight,
With glorious lights of all different hues,
That sparkled and lit up the night.

The beautiful horse with dapple-gray spots
That slowly danced up and then down,
As it twirled in time to the musical notes
That were played on the Merry-go-round.
And the smells of it all—how delicious they were.
They tickled my tummy a lot.
It was as if Grandma had mixed them all up
Into one very large cooking pot.

The bright colored shirts that the barker men wore
As they cried out for me to come see,
The trinkets and goodies stacked all in a row
Seemed like priceless treasures to me.

Many years have since past—and now I returned to the place that inspired childhood awe:

I watch the children as they pass one by one,
Seeing the things that I saw.

The hustle and bustle and noise is there
But nothing is quite the same,
And I know that the fair I saw as a child
I will never see again.

SPILLS PAINT

When my mistress' father came home I run and untie his shoes. Then I bring his slippers to him. Sometimes my mistress gets mad at me. Then I scold her while she scolds me. Once she threw some crushed ice at me. Then I ran away and hid.

Once I caused a very big riot. I went down in the basement to play with Mitzie, the big dog. Mitzie and I spilled some paint. The paint was black and white. When we turned black and white, Oh boy, did we get scolded! My mistress put Mitzie and me down in the basement play room. Then I climbed out of the window.

Once I went to the vets. I ran into a cage that was empty, and got locked in. My mistress asked if she might look at the dogs. I was very lucky she came, so they could let me out.

WHISPERING GALLERY

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

Recent Air Force experiments with satellites have demonstrated that the Ionosphere, the Fourth layer of earth's atmosphere, acts like a giant radio version of a "whispering gallery."

The theory behind these experiments is that the Ionosphere, shown in the picture above, acts like a "whispering gallery" in which radio waves travel around the curve of earth with low loss of volume. On earth, this phenomenon is experienced with sound waves in large domed structures, like the old House of Representatives chamber of the Capitol Building in Washington, D.C. Guides demonstrate to tourists how the members of one party could hear the discussions of strategy by the opposition on the opposite side of the chamber. A similar "whispering gallery" is on exhibit in the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago.

The theory was first proved mathematically by Dr. Mario Grossi of the Raytheon Co. in

Test Theory
To test this theory in actual practice, the Air Force used two 55 by 17 inch dome cylinder Orbiting Vehicle satellites, OV4 IR and OV4 IT. OV4 IR weighed 300 pounds and OV4 IT weighed 240 pounds. They were among four satellites, and a sub-orbital test of the Air Force's Gemini B launched into space by a titan III-C from Cape Kennedy on November 3, 1966. Each of the four satellites were placed in a slightly different orbit.

The OV4 1 satellites were first placed in a circular orbit 184 miles above earth. Then a rocket aboard OV4 IT was fired separating it from OV4 IR and putting it into an oval orbit which carried it within 194 miles of earth.

For the "Whispering Gallery" experiment High Frequency (HF) and Very High Frequency (VHF) radio signals were beamed to one of the satellites.

This satellite then relayed them to its twin on the other side of earth. Then the second satellite returned the signals to one of the six tracking stations used in the experiment.

Their names are Sue and Suzan. I like to do tricks, and I like to run and play. I also like to play in the snow in winter.

Sometimes instead of dog-food they give me steak bones.

But best of all I like Yummies very much! I like my big dog-house. It's warm, nice, and very pretty.

Have you seen my cousin, Lassie, on TV? I would like to visit her. You might see me on TV then.

Suzan and Sue were planning to give me a bath. I don't like that bath tub! But I'll get a bath anyway! I had to get rabies shots. They hurt! ouch, ouch, OUCH!

PUFF'S STORY

I am a black, white, and grey tomat, and my name is Puff. I live with the Smith family on South Main Street. This is a busy street, but I spend most of my time in the house or basement.

There are five members of the Smith family. Each of them treats me in a different way. Timmy does not pay much attention to me. Danny pulls my tail and lies on me until I have to meow loudly to let him know he is hurting me. Becky loves me and has spoiled me but she forgets to give me water. Mr. Smith has spoiled me, too. He lets me in the house and feeds me all the time. Mrs. Smith says, "Scat, you're in my way and worse than the kids."

Our Readers Say

By Christine Hembrough

Before we get into "Young Teen's" letter, I would like to tell you that another reader sent me a letter and she is going to go to Expo '67, so be watching for her story soon. It ought to be good. Now let's get back to our money problem.

Dear Christine,
I am a young teen and I really enjoy your column.

I have a problem and I hope that you can give me an answer. I am only 13 and would like to earn some extra money for extra items for school.

Thank you very much for your help!

Sincerely,
Young Teen
P.S. If possible, some week I would also appreciate some information for a slumber party.

Dear Young Teen,
Money! It seems to be everybody's biggest problem! But that doesn't solve your problem.

Also, summer is almost over, BUT, as they say, "It's better late than never."

Babysitting?
Have you tried babysitting? This is an ideal way to make money, but it is very hard for a teen to get a babysitting job because it seems everybody wants an adult.

Have you tried pet sitting, house sitting, plant sitting? Many people go on vacation and are glad to hire teens for these jobs. Or maybe you could be a companion to an elderly person or a house cleaner.

Handcrafts
Selling can bring in a profit. Try selling potholders. You can buy a loom and looms in any dime store. Sell each for 15c and you might want to make a pair for 25c. Although it might seem as if you're losing money in this deal, you'd be surprised how many people would rather have a set.

If you're a good cook, maybe you could sell food. Make cookies, or whatever and advertise and see how many people will buy in this hot weather. Maybe you can do chores, like running errands for the neighbors such as walking their dog, mailing letters, going to the store, etc.

Candid Photos
If you have a polaroid camera, then maybe you can hang out at the beach and take candid pictures, sell for 10c. Never can tell what might happen!

Or maybe you could be a "teacher" or mother's helper. Ask around and offer to entertain the children while mother bakes, or just rests in the house. Take them to the park so mom can get some peace and quiet for a change. Set up a rainy day program.

Put together something that no house should be without—a first aid kit, electric power failure kit with candles, and matches—sell from door to door.

Offer yourself as a lawnmower, basement cleaner. Oh, gee—just use your imagination and your mouth. Tell everyone, don't be shy!

Glad to hear that you like TEEN SCENE and I hope that you continue to like it. P.S. KEEP WATCHING, the one on the slumber party will be in soon.

Sincerely,
Christine
P.S. TO YOU—Anyone else who has a problem, question, or suggestion, send it to me as "Young Teen" did. I'll be glad you did.

PET SCOLDED

A cat came by our house and I saw and I went wild! He's a whining dinger! Rob Roy scolded me for barking and waking up every one.

A lot of times Rob Roy doesn't feed me or give me any water and, boy, it's awful!

I might as well tell about my broken legs. Well! the first time I was down at Jonathan Turner with some boys and girls. A girl wanted to hold me. When she started to give me back, I jumped and my foot got caught between the spokes of a bicycle wheel. Then the other time I jumped off the bed when the paper boy came.

Well, I guess that's all about my life.

Let's Go Birding

Sun Singers

By Emma Mae Leonhard

In our recent article we talked about the abundance of Bob-Whites that we observed on our breeding-birds censuses in June. However, although Bob-Whites were everywhere, there weren't dozens of them.

On the same two censuses we did find many more of a summer song-bird, the Dickcissel; Dickcissels were more than everywhere, if that is possible. At least they seemed to monopolize the routes.

Dickcissels seemed to take over the alfalfa and clover fields. They were strung along telephone wires. They swayed on weed or wheat stalks. As we drove along each half-mile stretch, we saw these sparrow-sized birds on the wires.

We recognized them by their performance: there they sat, with their tails tucked down and their throats puffed out, pouring forth their sunshine song, "Dick-ciss-ciss-ciss," each bird sang without variation. It was a simple song, not too musical but cheerful and enthusiastic and self-identifying.

Songs Fill Air
As we looked and listened during each three-minute period, Dickcissel song rose from fields on either side of us. Then we heard mostly a chatter "chup-chup-clip-clip-clip."

Sometimes the Dickcissel singing interfered with our identifying of other bird songs, but we didn't grumble. The fields were wide enough, and the sky was high enough for all the birds and their calls or songs.

At times the far more musical notes of the Eastern Meadowlark drifted in. Its "Tee-yah, tee-yair" sounded more like spring; it was more like a whistle than a buzz, but it was in the minority.

Little Meadowlark
Our Dickcissel is sometimes called Little Meadowlark, not for its song but for its appearance. It also has a yellow breast with a black V or bib on it; and, as we have said, it is also a bird of the fields, grasslands, and prairies.

We can almost safely guess that our area census report will contain one of the highest number of Dickcissels seen or heard in the States. There are Western and Eastern Meadowlarks but only midwestern Dickcissels or Little Meadowlarks. Of course a Dickcissel could appear as a rarity in the east or the west sections, but only that.

Our Illinois prairies and fields wouldn't be complete without Dickcissels; our summer would be dull without the cheerful persistent chattering of our little sun-singer.

UNCLE SAM has been welcoming a steadily increasing number of overseas visitors since the Visit U.S.A. program got into gear.

Visit USA Program Curbing Dollar Drain

By DON GRAFF

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (NEA) — The United States has a bad case of gaposis in its travel accounts. To cure it, a major effort is under way to turn Americans into hosts as well as visitors. The man on Main Street may not be aware, or much care, but we are deeply involved these days in a numbers game and a hard-sell campaign to market America abroad. Last year, 2,975,000 globetrotting Americans left $1.4 billion in foreign cash registers. Meanwhile, 1,163,001 overseas visitors were checking through U.S. Customs and contributing $551 million to the U.S. economy.

The difference is the travel gap — more than twice as many Americans going abroad as foreigners visiting the United States and leaving behind almost three times as much money. In dollar terms, it represents a sizable chunk of the chronic U.S. balance of payments deficit.

While the gap has been with us for a long time, until recently it was not seen as a major problem by the men in Washington who keep books on national income and outgo. In the immediate postwar years, in fact, American travel abroad was actively encouraged, for the dollars it pumped into sick economies. Little thought was given to tourist traffic in this direction, and there was little of it.

All that began to change with the late 1950s, and the start of the long run of U.S. international payment deficits.

In 1960, the count was 491,359 overseas visitors, the next year 516,152. The million mark was passed in 1965 with a 1,040,002 total, and the yearly figures continue to climb.

Another record year is shaping up. During the first half of 1967, with the heavy travel season just getting under way, the head count showed 542,195 visitors, up 11.7 per cent over 1966.

American transportation has turned out to be a potent ally for the U.S.T.S. Particularly the airlines, obviously recognizing a good thing when they see it—about 10 overseas arrivals come by air to every one by sea.

Tips have been picked up from European old hands in the tourist business. Package deals making travel cheaper and more convenient have long been pushed on the tourist-conscious continent.

Bus and rail package deals are now available in the United States, and the airlines offer a staggering choice of budget plans, usually at 50 to 75 per cent of regular fare with fringe benefits.

Eastern Airlines' 14-day Cradle of American History tour covers nine eastern states and the District of Columbia at $40 coach for adults and $20 for the kiddies from 2 to 11.

Another typical bargain is Frontier's 30-day Vacationland tour at $100, $50 for the younger set.

Trans World Airlines offers visitors its entire coast-to-coast network with unlimited stopovers at 75 per cent of regular fare.

For its third U.S.A. Editors Tour, TWA brought over 29 European journalists for a fast-paced look at Washington, New York, Expo 67, Cape Kennedy, San Francisco, the raucous splendors of Las Vegas, the Grand Canyon and, for a peek at typical mid-America, Kansas City.

Is Visit U.S.A. really selling the U.S.A.?

There could be some question as to how much of the tourist increase can be credited to the sales job and how much is the natural result of increased prosperity abroad, permitting indulgence of a basic human itch to travel.

But a recent survey, conducted for USTBS by a prestigious private research firm, credited the combined government-industry promotional effort in 19 countries with adding nearly half a million tourists and $225 million in additional revenue to the U.S. take from tourism since 1961.

'MISREPRESENTED' CAN GOODS SEIZED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said Friday it has seized 48 cases of a food product called "Noodle-Roni Chicken Almonds."

The Food and Drug Administration said the product was seized in Yorktown, Ind., Thursday because it was labeled as containing "lots of flavorful chicken meat" but had little or no chicken meat in it.

The product is manufactured by Golden Grain Macaroni Co. of Bridgeview, Ill.

The seizure is the first step toward a court determination of whether there has been a violation of the Food and Drug Act.

Grain Company Names Directors For Coming Year

ARENZVILLE — The annual meeting of the stockholders and patrons of the Arenzville-Hagen Farmers Grain company was held Saturday, July 22, at the Legion Hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Homer Fricke. Minutes were read by Secretary Oliver G. Meyer and Charles Schnitker gave the manager's report.

The nominating committee recommended the following directors for the coming year: Homer Fricke, Oliver Meyer, Clyde Ginder, Patterson McLain, Earl Schnake and Robert Witte. The program consisted of an address by Merle Altstiel, divisional sales manager for Master Mix Feeds. George Racette and Jerry Campbell, representatives of the feed company, were also present.

Mr. Altstiel presented a film "MacDonald's Farm," showing the scientific methods of feeding livestock. Refreshments were served by Trudy Schnitker, Mrs. George Racette, Mrs. Merle Altstiel, Esther Morrison and Charles Schnitker.

Arenzville Items Miss Elizabeth Paul of Chicago is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Elmore Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roegge of Orlando, Florida visited relatives here on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Beard and David returned home Wednesday night after several days vacation in Arkansas, Claremont, Oklahoma and the Ozarks.

TRAIN RENTAL PLAN

CHICAGO (AP) — A plan to institute annual rental of trains for cheaper shipment of cereals by Illinois grain dealers was announced by the Illinois Central Railroad Friday.

The railroad said a shipper would pay an annual fee plus a charge for tonnage per mile for shipments to any point on the IC system with facilities for handling such traffic.

The plan puts no restriction on the number of shipments and is primarily designed for transportation to ports on the Gulf of Mexico.

The proposal will be filed with the Illinois Freight Association Aug. 7.

Auto Makers Report Declining Profits In Second Quarter

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union, eyecing the problems of negotiating for a big money package when auto industry profits are down, has made another pitch for profit-sharing.

A position paper on the subject was presented to General Motors Friday after the automotive giant reported a decline in profits from last year.

"This proposal would mean that they could come back each year for a second cut," said Earl R. Bramblett, GM's director of labor relations.

Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and GM all reported declines in profits for the second quarter of 1967.

Ford reported net income of $146.5 million, equal of $1.34 per share.

This compared with $216.9 million in the second quarter of 1966 and a per-share equivalent of $1.97.

Ford said fewer sales and higher cost of labor and materials cut into the profits.

Vehicles sales, the firm said, were down 13 per cent for the quarter from the same period last year.

GM had reported a drop in first six-months earnings from $1.1 billion in 1966 to $902 million this year.

Chrysler Corp. said its earnings fell $50 million in the first six months of the year.

The UAW pointed out that few major contracts expired in 1966, a boom year, and that now that the unions are able to get to the bargaining table, the pickings are poorer.

The position paper said any "profits that would be shared would be what was left after all costs had been met."

The union made it clear that it wanted profit-sharing addition to major gains in wages and fringe benefits.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, said after presenting the paper, "There was a total lack of response, if silence is a lack of response."

The UAW asked profit-sharing in 1961 and 1964 and was turned down both times.

Neither Ford nor Chrysler has responded to the demand, but Bramblett said GM's "position has been pretty clear over the years and I don't see any change."

"The UAW already has presented demands which comprise the largest package in the history of collective bargaining, all of which cost hard cash," he added.

Wheat, Corn, Oats Decline In Trading

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures prices on the Chicago Board of Trade retreated more than a bushel during the week, the seventh week out of the past eight that prices declined.

Corn was as much as 2½ cents lower for the eighth straight week of falling prices. Seasonal lows were set twice during the last five days.

Oats, too, dropped below the season's lows, but then rallied to close the week ¾ to 1½ cents higher. Rye, on the other hand, declined by more than 2 cents a bushel.

Soybeans showed little movement during much of the week and closed mostly lower by fractions. Soybean oil was up a few cents, while meal slipped from 25 cents to 17½.

In the choice steer pit, prices closed mostly by a few cents.

At the close Friday, wheat was 1½ to 1¾ cents a bushel lower for the day, September 1.53½-54; corn was ¼ to ½ lower, September 1.24¾-¼; oats were ¾ to 1½ higher, September 69½-¾; rye was ½ to 1¼ higher, September 1.25½-¾; and soybeans were ¼ lower to 1½ higher, August 2.76¾-¾.

Wheat prices were up and down throughout the week after an advance of almost 6 cents a bushel during the prior week. That bulge, and one of similar dimensions in rye futures, was attributed to dry weather in the Dakotas and in western Canada. That reasoning, along with news that a Soviet delegation was in Canada seeking perhaps 2 to 4 million tons, led a modest advance early this week. But nervousness set in and prices slid.

No decision was announced on the possible Russian-Canadian deal.

Corn prices were the victims of ideal growing weather. Rain in the Midwest, coming in the

Business — Market Wrapup

Week In Business

Firms Blame Cost Hikes For Drop In Earnings

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate profits pursued an erratic course in the second quarter and first half of this year.

That was evident from the flood of earnings reports from company directors' meetings this past week.

One of the more pertinent aspects was that in many cases companies recorded higher sales but slimmer profits in comparison with a year earlier. Executives were virtually unanimous in attributing this situation to higher costs of materials and labor.

First-quarter profits of the nation's industries declined 3.1 per cent from the comparable period in 1966. While the returns for the second quarter were far from complete, many economists predicted a similar decline for that period.

Among the industries showing lower earnings this year were steel, automobile, textile, lead and zinc, home furnishings, paper and construction.

Those boosting profits included oil, electric utilities, natural gas, aerospace, food processors, service industries and bank and insurance companies.

With automotive and construction industries lagging, steel producers saw their profits diminish sharply.

U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 producer, reported its earnings fell 44 per cent in the second quarter and 34 per cent in the first half from a year earlier.

Second-ranked Bethlehem Steel Corp. had declines of 38 and 27 per cent in the same periods.

Republic Steel Corp., the third largest producer, announced drops of 37.2 and 26 per cent. Sales also declined sharply.

Automakers' profits declined despite higher dollar sales volume. However, unit sales of cars and trucks were below the levels of a year earlier. The sales pace in the second quarter picked up over the first three months.

General Motors Corp., the biggest automaker, reported a profits decline of 4.4 per cent in the second quarter and 20 per cent in the first quarter. Chrysler Corp.'s earnings drop in those periods was 11 and 43 per cent.

The oil industry posted the best performance record. Sales gains and a firmness of product prices in the United States more than offset a decline in earnings abroad stemming from the Middle East war.

Among companies reporting record sales and earnings in the second quarter and first half were Standard Oil Co.-New Jersey, Mobil Oil Corp., Shell Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Cities Service Co. and Union Oil Co. of California.

Business was hard hit this past week by the widespread Negro rioting, burning and looting. It was estimated that 4,000 establishments, most of them small, were destroyed or damaged.

In Detroit, where the most violent outbreak exploded, business almost was at a standstill. In the downtown area, which was outside the riot area, stores, offices and banks closed.

Complete Navy Basic

Terry Mulch

Ted Olson

Two Jacksonville boys, seaman recruits Ted A. Olson and Terry R. Mulch, have been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill. Terry is the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert V. Mulch of 631 East Chambers. Ted, 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Greth Olson of 269 Finley street.

In the first weeks of their naval service they studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those they will encounter on their first ship or at their first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, they received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. They studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, military drill, and other subjects.

At 4-H Camp

The Morgan County delegate to the 4-H Junior Leadership Conference at 4-H Memorial Camp near Monticello, Miss. Mary Cheze, left, extension specialist in 4-H club work. The delegate is Virginia Johnson, member of the Alexander Girls 4-H club.

The 4-H'ers will receive training to develop their leadership capabilities. The camp is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension service of the University of Illinois.

Mao's Thought Has Brought Chinese Research To Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 17 years of scientific development, says a Library of Congress specialist, the Chinese Communists have succeeded in bringing that progress to a standstill through the thought of Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

That's the upshot of an analysis of "R & D" — research and development — in Communist China, by Leo A. Orleans, China research specialist at the Library of Congress.

In the issue of "Science" magazine published Friday, Orleans says that between 1949 and 1965 the Chinese, starting practically from scratch, built up a total research and development force of from 375,000 to 475,000, including by rough estimate some 53,000 scientists and engineers, perhaps 160,000 technicians and about 200,000 non-technical workers.

China's recent explosion of a hydrogen bomb, as much as two years sooner than some Western predictions, fits a pattern of lopsided emphasis on the "D" — practical development, rather than basic research, says Orleans.

"The scientists who directed and produced the bomb had much of the necessary information already available to them," he writes.

In China, the government wants scientists to create things that work, he says, and new theories, if they turn up, are only a lucky bonus.

To build up Chinese pride, Orleans says, propaganda disparages foreign technology, and yet the Chinese continue to use it.

Magistrate Court Fines

Magistrate Paul Fenstermaker and Deputy Circuit Clerk Mrs. Mabel Brown presided over a number of traffic cases last week and assessed fines after the defendants entered written or oral pleas of guilty to the charges.

Cases handled by the magistrate included: Catherine L. Lewis, South Sandy, failure to yield, $20; Marjorie Engel, Roodhouse, failure to yield, $20; Henry G. Seilinger, Springfield, wrong lane usage, $10; Robert K. Currie, Divernon, leaving scene of accident, $10; Jean E. Allan, Meredosia, too fast for conditions, $20; Thomas Behymer, Denver, Colorado, passing in no passing zone, $10 and speeding, $30.

Speeding violations handled by the clerk were: Dale Anderson, Blue Ridge Trailer Court, $12; John A. Goodpasture, Platte City, Mo. $9; Donald W. Hawkshaw, Meredosia, $10; Roger D. Barnett, Hillview, $15; Cecil C. Dorsey, Chambersburg, $7; Barry J. Harvey, Palmyra, $10.

Other violations handled by the clerk were: Paul W. McGlasson, 1202 Hackett, improper passing, $10; Richard P. Monroe, Ashland, improper passing, $10; Robert E. Briggs, Route 4, leaving scene with vehicle unattended, $10; Pamela A. Brennan, 1144 W. Lafayette, failure to yield, $10; Richard R. Williams, Springfield, disobeyed stop sign, $10; Lawrence E. Gobbel, Meredosia, dropping dangerous material on highway, $10; Richard E. McAdams, 1115 W. State, improper passing, $10.

All fines listed above were subject to the addition of five dollars court costs.

Travelers Return With Happy Memories

ARENZVILLE — Reverend and Mrs. Roland Welch, Arenzville and Reverend and Mrs. Otto Borchelt of Jacksonville have returned to their respective homes after a three-week trip to Canada and New York.

The men were delegates to the seven-day Convention of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod at the New York Hilton Hotel in Manhattan.

The two couples traveled through Canada on the way, arriving in Ottawa for Dominion Day, the highlight of the Canadian Centennial celebration. They were privileged to hear Queen Elizabeth speaking to the House of Commons on the grounds of Parliament Hill. Later, they were proud to be in the crowd lining the streets when the Royal Couple rode by, standing in the rear of a convertible. Queen Elizabeth was attired in a white gown trimmed in blue, wearing a shoulder band and a diamond tiara. Prince Philip was dressed in full military regalia.

The Welchs and Borchelts also saw the embassies of the various countries and the ambassadors' homes, including the United States buildings.

They spent several days touring Expo 67 at Montreal and reported that it is a thrilling experience to see all the countries represented. They also enjoyed a ride on the minirail. The majority of the population in Montreal speak French. All the expressway signs, etc., are in French, so even though you think you made the right turn, — you may never know for sure.

Celebrities may be seen most anywhere, the travelers report. Some of those seen by conventioners were Bishop Sheen, Skitch Henderson, Joyce Brothers, one of the Monkees, Hugh Downs, Morey Amsterdam, Johnny Carson and David Brinkley. They returned home by way of Niagara Falls. The Borchelts remained in Ft. Wayne, Indiana, for a few days while Rev. and Mrs. Welch attended the Lutheran Free Conference in Chicago.

They reported a most enjoyable trip but the sentiment seems to be that three weeks is just too long to be away from the family.

PFC. E. C. SCHOFIELD ON 30 DAY LEAVE AT SCOTT CO. HOME

WINCHESTER — Pfc. Charles E. Schofield is spending a 30 day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schofield of rural Winchester. After his leave here he will report to Fort Dix, N.J. for overseas duty in Germany.

Schofield graduated from Winchester High School in 1965 and before enlistment in the Army was employed by Cox Heating and Plumbing in Winchester. He enlisted in September of 1966 and received basic at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. In January of this year he was transferred to Fort Monmouth, N.J. in the Army Signal Corps. He was graduated July 21st from the Microwave Radio Repair School after 28 weeks intensive training at the Signal Corps Base.

MANCHESTER SOCIAL ITEMS

MANCHESTER — Mrs. Tressa Brown traveled to Lambert Airport in St. Louis recently to meet her granddaughter, Cathy Hartman, who returned by plane from Stuttgart, Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vestal visited friends in Alton recently. Mrs. Donald Bridges spent Thursday with her mother, Mrs. John Kite of Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. William Green visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hawkins in Jacksonville recently.

Women Declare War On 'Protective' Laws

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Determined business and professional women are declaring war on what they call outmoded state laws that once perhaps protected the frail working girl, but now actually stand between her and getting ahead in her job.

The 5,000 members and delegates who attended the annual convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., ending Friday with a national board of directors meeting, are returning home armed with strategy and ammunition.

Tucked among their souvenirs from New York is a very businesslike little handbook, "How to Secure Repeal of 'Protective' Legislation."

The women plan to start-by-state mop-up operation on laws that limit the number of hours a woman can work, or require special rest and meal periods for her, or prohibit her working in specified fields, such as bartending or around mines, or limiting the amount of weight she may lift on the job.

Such statutes were originally enacted to protect women from exploitation and industrial hazard. Today, however, the business women contend, the conditions which gave rise to the laws are no longer in existence.

Now all the laws do is bar a woman from a wide variety of jobs or preclude her from supervisory positions which may require nightwork or overtime occasionally.

Eyebrows Raised As Priest Fights Poverty

By PAUL ALBRIGHT
SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Aiming at what he calls total involvement in community life, a Roman Catholic priest has been granted an indefinite leave from his church duties to direct New Mexico's multimillion-dollar war on poverty.

Some eyebrows were raised when Gov. David F. Cargo appointed the Rev. Robert Garcia, 32, first as acting director and later permanent director of the state Office of Economic Opportunity this year.

Father Garcia has jumped into his new job with both feet, sometimes kicking up controversy as he works with the federal government to push the war on poverty in many poor New Mexican areas, particularly in the northern portion of the state.

Garcia, who doesn't care if persons use the "father" when addressing him, said he has been called a "rebel, a radical doctrinally unorthodox, and perhaps even a heretic." But the priest, no longer wearing clerical garb, is not concerned about his status in the "institutional" church—that is, the traditional parish approach to community problems and affairs.

"As has been said, we need to bring the church out of the cloister and into the marketplace, out of the temple into the city. What has the church been doing with its head in the temple all these years?"

Garcia wants a fuller involvement in human problems by the problem over separation of church and state.

"There is no comparison between the fulfillment of parish work and this work (antipoverty) program," he said. "This is one area where the action is, whereas the parish structure is fairly restrictive in working where the action is."

He said he is "doing more fully what the pastor is supposed to be doing of what Christian life is supposed to be doing."

He receives $10,500 annually from the state and applies the money to his private use and not to the church.

South Jacksonville Referendum Tuesday To Determine Future

Voters in the Village of South Jacksonville will decide Tuesday whether to issue $350,000 in general obligation bonds designed to pay for construction of a sewer and water system expected to be completed within a year.

Village voters will have an opportunity to cast their ballots on two propositions, both of which are directly related. The two propositions are issuance of $80,000 in bonds for a water system, and $270,000 for a sewage treatment system.

What's On Your Mind?

A group of South Jacksonville citizens have arranged for an airing of views and facts concerning village-city water problems over the Radio Station WLDS program, "What's On Your Mind?" Monday from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Invitations have been issued to both municipalities to have representatives present to deal with such questions as: Can the village buy water from the city? How have present rates being charged in the village been computed? What measures are necessary to improve the water pressure in South Jacksonville? Could this be accomplished without separate water systems? Is the city prepared to handle the water and sewage demands placed upon it by the village in the future? And how much more will water cost south of Michigan Avenue?

The group is hopeful that open discussion will clarify the main issues confronting South Jacksonville citizens in this inter-community question.

WLDS General Manager Gerry Cassens said Saturday afternoon that James Malone, Chamber of Commerce president, had agreed to moderate the discussion. Cassens added that confirmation had not been received concerning who would appear on behalf of the two communities. He added that a segment in the regular program schedule would be kept open for the airing of both sides of the question until broadcast time.

Three Injured In Crash Near Murrayville

Three persons were injured in a head-on crash in dense fog early Saturday on Route 267 between Murrayville and Manchester.

Rushed to Passavant hospital by ambulance was the driver of one of the cars, Marshall Tangman, 22, of Franklin, and a passenger, 18-year-old James Stanberry, also of Franklin. Taken to Holy Cross hospital was the driver of a pickup truck, Franklin G. Kroush, 36, of Route 1, Murrayville.

All three men were admitted to the local hospitals and all were later reported to be in satisfactory condition. Investigating state police said the two vehicles collided head-on in a very dense fog. Troopers said Tangman was northbound and Kroush was headed south.

Police said the first crash occurred about 3:30 a.m. and ten or 15 minutes later, another car crashed into one of the wrecked vehicles.

Driver of the third vehicle, Francis L. Hudson, 52, of Manchester who was unable to see the wrecked vehicles due to the fog, Hudson was not injured. The Tangman and Kroush vehicles were heavily damaged and had to be towed from the scene.

LOCAL MAN HURT IN SPRINGFIELD

The Morgan county sheriff's office reported Saturday that a Jacksonville man was injured Friday in an accident in Springfield. Donald Arnold of 1206 Allen Avenue reportedly suffered minor injuries and was treated and released from a Springfield hospital. The mishap occurred at 9:30 a.m. Friday on MacArthur Blvd.

William Balsley Of Winchester Dies At Age 81

WINCHESTER — William W. Balsley, 81-year-old Winchester resident, passed away at the Melrose Nursing Center at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Born Nov. 17, 1885; he was the son of John and Sarah Haigh Balsley. His first wife, Eileen Miller Balsley, passed away in 1953. He was married in 1955 to the former Beatrice McMullen, who survives.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Glenn (Virginia) Bousman of Bloomington and Mrs. Culver (Gene) Mills of Galesburg and three grandchildren.

Mr. Balsley was a member of Winchester Masonic Lodge 105, A.F. and A.M., the Melrose Consistory and the Peoria Shrine. He was employed as a salesman for the Forbes Tea and Coffee company of St. Louis until his retirement in 1953.

Funeral services are scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Woodcock Funeral Home, Reverend R. T. Wofford officiating. Burial will be in Winchester cemetery where Masonic services will be conducted at graveside.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m. Sunday.

The family suggests that expressions of sympathy be made in the form of memorial contributions to the Cancer Fund.

W. G. McKenzie, Alderman For 32 Years, Dies

BEARDSTOWN — Warren G. McKenzie, 84, who served on the Beardstown city council for 32 years, died Friday night at Schmitt hospital.

He worked for the Burlington railroad for 52 years, and was employed for 11 years in the License Department of the State of Illinois. After serving two terms as city treasurer, he became 4th ward alderman, serving in that capacity for 32 years.

He is survived by his wife, Georgene Nixon McKenzie and a son, Edwin of Pekin. Five grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Lee R. Blohm of Carlsbad, New Mexico, also survive.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Northcutt Funeral Home at 2 p.m. today with burial to be in Oak Grove cemetery.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Decker of 807 East Independence became parents of a son born at 1:24 p.m. Friday at Passavant hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Weyl of 205 North Prairie became parents of a son born at 8:50 a.m. Saturday at Passavant hospital.

DRIVERS UNHURT NORTH OF CITY

Dense fog was mentioned as a possible cause of a two-car accident shortly before 12:30 a.m. Saturday on U.S. 67, north of Jacksonville at the Litchberry-Arcadia crossroad.

State police said a car driven by William Hankins, 24, of Beardstown was attempting a left turn from the Arcadia Road onto the highway when it struck a northbound auto driven by Alvin Lashbrook, 24, of Virginia.

The two drivers and a passenger in each car escaped injury.

Hankins was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way. Lashbrook's car was towed from the scene.

CONTINENTAL GRAIN Company's model-display of the firm's export elevator network in New Orleans was judged the best exhibit in the merchants' building at the Morgan County Fair Saturday afternoon. Eldon P. Warnke (l) of Beardstown, a representative of the company, received the Everett Wise Challenge Trophy, presented annually to the "most progressive merchant exhibitor." Fair Association President Wayne Ginder (r) presented the award.

No. 1 Barrow At The Fair

THERE WERE 215 head of barrows judged Saturday at the junior fair swine show and an extremely trim 165 pound lightweight Hampshire owned by Cindy DeOrnellas, 14, was named the best of them all.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeOrnellas, route 4, Jacksonville, she is a member of the North Side Ag club, and is an old hand, even at 14, at the business of winning trophies.

Miss Morgan County Pork Queen, Sheryl Freeman, made the presentation.

Coleen Prunty Is Miss Bluffs Legion For '67

Miss Coleen Prunty, who will be a freshman at Bluffs High School next fall, was chosen Miss Bluffs American Legion 1967 Saturday evening in ceremonies highlighting the annual Bluffs Legion Picnic.

Miss Prunty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Prunty, was chosen from a field of 15 contestants. She was sponsored in the contest by Freen Brothers Construction Company.

Gretchen Vannier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vannier, was named first runner-up. She was sponsored by Bluffs Hardware store. The second runner-up, Cindy Six, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Six and represented Meiers Trading Center in the contest.

Tied for third runner-up honors were Roni Rahe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rahe and Ronda Orchard, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. David Orchard. Miss Rahe entered competition as the representative of Hierman's Gamble store while Miss Orchard was sponsored by the Sturgeon A. G. store.

The winners were chosen by popular vote in a contest which produced spirited balloting as picnic time approached.

Hampshire Barrow Gains Crown At Fair Swine Show Saturday

There were many fine hogs at the junior fair show Saturday.

That's what the judge, Francis Callahan of Milford, Iroquois county, said.

"I've never seen a county fair that had so many good hogs, in every class," he asserted.

There were just too many hogs for one day. That's what a tired set of assistants said at 8:45 p.m.

They began working shortly after 8 a.m., took a short dinner break, and no supper break. Some of them said they hadn't worked so hard for many years. If ever.

Today's Schedule
1:00 p.m. — Western Horse Show

2:00 p.m. — Talent Show

8:00 p.m. — Aut Swenson Thrill Show

Results and scenes of the fair appear on pages 16 and 17.

The enormous work load developed through a change in dates for this year's exposition. In prior years the swine judging was done through Friday and Saturday morning. With the change of dates all judging had to be completed in one day.

Then, to top it off, a record number of hogs came to the fair. Several of the classes numbered as many as 20 head, some 24 and there were 42 crossbred barrows in that class.

Things Sped Along

During the day certain individuals dominated the breed classes: John and Janet Potter with their Durocs; Cindy and Bobby DeOrnellas with their Hampshires; Lloyd L. and Terri Jones of near Glasgow with their Poland Chinas; Jim Burus with his Spotted Poland Chinas and Tom and Todd Burus with the Yorkshires.

This was narrowed down to the DeOrnellas and the Burus herds, with the grand champion barrow crown going to Cindy DeOrnellas with an exceptionally classy 165 pound Hampshire and the reserve title going to a most excellent 220 pound Yorkshire shown by Todd Burus.

Deborah Wagner, seven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wagner of Rockbridge, drew the names of ten winners of free subscriptions to the Jacksonville Journal-Courier at the Morgan County Fair Saturday evening.

The winners are: Mrs. Sally Lane, route one, Ashland; Mary L. Hayes, route three, Jacksonville; Mrs. Elizabeth Gray, route one, Ashland; Paul Hess, route three, Jacksonville; Mrs. Howard Bryant, route two, Franklin; L. J. Flynn Jr., route three, Jacksonville; Wallace Hembrough, route five, Jacksonville; Teresa Ruyle, route two, Greenfield; Leta McNece, 1008 Hardin and William F. Spencer, 1206 Edgehill.

Everyone is eligible to register for a free subscription and is urged to place entries in the big pink barrel at the Journal-Courier fair booth. Ten winners will be named today, the closing day of the 1967 fair.

Winners receive free subscriptions to either the Journal or Courier, for three months by mail or for eight weeks if delivered to the home.

In addition to giving name and address, entrants are asked to answer all questions on the registration blank.

CAR DESTROYED BY FIRE SOUTH OF CITY FRIDAY

An automobile owned by a Canton man was destroyed by fire shortly after 10 p.m. Friday on Route 67 about two miles south the Morgan county line.

State police said a car driven by John Cox of Canton ignited when a rear tire became overheated. Troopers said no fire department was available to attempt to save the auto.

Cox, his wife and two children escaped injury in the blaze but their car burned to the pavement in the process.
